60,000 Shots of Polio Vaccine For the County

About 60,000 anti-polio shots are en route to Westmoreland County from the state Health Department for a "Polio Day" inoculation program to be conducted throughout the county this Saturday.

On Saturday, 186 County physicians will make their offices "vaccination centers." They will administer the Salk vaccine from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., during which time anyone, able or unable to pay, can have the inoculation.

Monessen district doctors are cooperating in the county Medical Society's program and will administer the serum during the six-hour period Saturday.

Dr. Louis A. Naples, county medical director and a spokesman for the Society, said every school child, regardless of his family's financial circumstances, will be vaccinated against polio "without cost."

$15,000 Appropriated

He also said "state-supplied vaccine is available without cost for adults who cannot afford the $3 fee."

Meanwhile, at a meeting of the county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis last night, it was voted to appropriate $15,000 from this year's March of Dimes funds to pay for vaccine for persons in the 20 to 50 age group who are unable to pay.

The chapter also voted to purchase any supplies needed for a county-wide inoculation program.

P&LE President Takes Issue with Postal Statement

PITTSBURGH (UP)—President J. W. Barriger of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad took issue today with a post office department statement that the railroad lost a quarter-million dollar contract for mail service between Cleveland and Pittsburgh "through its own choice."

"No complaint has been received from the post office department about the P & LE's mail transportation service, nor has any request for service been received," Barriger said in a letter to E. George Siedle, assistant postmaster general.

Siedle said earlier that the railroad lost the contract because it allegedly refused to schedule trains permitting next-day delivery of mail. The contract was awarded to the trucking industry.

Siedle said the post office "saved" $300,000 by having trucks meet postal schedules and save handling time and expenses by unloading directly at the post office platforms.

Barriger also denied Siedle's charge of "repeated complaints" about service because train departures were too late or too early to handle mail for next day delivery.

Detective Told To Repay City Police Salary

PITTSBURGH (UP)—City detective Joseph Becker has been ordered to reimburse the city for time spent as an out-of-town bodyguard for David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers.

However, McDonald issued a statement promising he would relieve Becker and the taxpayers of any loss.

"I am sorry about this misunderstanding," McDonald said. "At no time did I have any other thing in mind but to take care of all financial obligations personally.

"The taxpayers of Pittsburgh and Mr. Becker can be assured there will be no out-of-pocket loss to them."

Police Superintendent James W. Slusser directed Becker Wednesday to return the police salary he had received during that period of sacrifice vacation time equal to his stint as McDonald's bodyguard.

Becker was carried on the city police payroll at $475 a month while he accompanied the union president on a 22-day trip. McDonald lives in suburban Mt. Lebanon and is not a resident of Pittsburgh.

Slusser assumed full responsibility for assigning Becker.

Hinting that McDonald's life had been threatened, Slusser said "it is our duty to stop trouble before it starts."

Becker was McDonald's bodyguard at five regional USW meetings and the 10-day mid-winter meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council at Miami.

House Gets Bill to Boost Teachers Pay

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly has received bipartisan legislation to authorize annual pay increases for teachers and school administrators that would cost $21.000,000 in the next two years.

Legislation introduced in the House would raise maximum standard teacher's salaries from $5.000 to $5,800 during the three year period; teachers with BA degree, $5,400 to $6,200; and teachers with MA degrees from $5,800 to $6,600.

Principals and supervising principals would receive top salaries ranging from $7,300 to $10.500. County and district superintendents would have a maximum $13.-000 by 1960 under the proposed schedule.

An extra increase of $100 for the 1957-58 school year and another for the 1958-59 year is provided in the bill, to be added to the already mandated $300 annual increments for those periods.

The proposed increases would affect some 70,000 persons in the state school system. The 1955 Legislature authorized teachers a $200 increase for the 1956 school year and additional $100 increases for the 1957-58 and 1958-59 school years. The new legislation would add to those salary hikes and would remain as maximum pay for the positions.

The legislation, backed by the Pennsylvania State Education Association, was introduced in two bills. One bill authorized the salary hikes and the other would restore the old policy of making state subsidy payments to school districts in the year the higher pay is granted.

The bills were introduced by Reps. Maurice H. Goldstein (R-Allegheny), William K. Knecht (R-Schuylkill), Stephen McCann (D-Greene), William J. Reidenbach (D-Lackawanna), William G. Buchanan (R-Indiana), Louis Rovansek (D-Cambria) and ulian Polaski (D-Erie).

The Reds recently established diplomatic missions in states marked with hammer and sickle symbols — Russia in Ethiopia and Libya, and the Czechs in the Belgian Congo and Union of South Africa. As a result, the U. S. shortly will open diplomatic establishments in the French Ivory Coast, Cameroons, Uganda and Somalia (white stars). The U. S. already has ambassadorial-rank missions in the six states marked with black stars. All this is exclusive of the Egypt-Middle East embroilment which has been getting headlines.

GOP Tax Package Faces House Debate

HARRISBURG (UP) — Taxes and Gov. George M. Leader's budget fill the agenda of the General Assembly next week when the Republican controlled House attempts to move its tax package to the Senate.

House Republican leaders estimated their tax bills plus existing taxes already on the books will yield $1,524,000,000. However, the governor's budget outlines proposed expenditures totaling $1.6-billion for 1957-58.

The GOP contends the administration placed its needs at least $80,000,000 too high. The Democrats, shunted to the minority this session, plan a sharp debate on the package, especially a breakedown on the bills' individual yields.

The Republicans have not broken down the estimated revenue expected from the package. However, here is the GOP package with the revenue figures placed on the bills by the administration:

Sales tax at 3 per cent and drop the stamp plan method of collection ($448-million).

Corporate net income tax at 6 per cent, with an automatic reduction to 5 per cent on June 1, 1959 ($314-million).

Cigaret tax at five cents per pack with all revenue earmarked for the General Fund ($111-million).

Gross receipts tax on public utilities at 14 mills ($32-million).

Real estate transfer tax at 1 per cent ($41.5-million).

Gasoline Tax Drop

Another bill would drop the gasoline tax from six cents a gallon to five cents on June 1 instead of Sept. 13.

Democratic and Republican House leaders expected only token opposition on all the bills except the reenactment of the sales tax.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said "some of the Republicans object to eliminating the stamp plan." "We might have some opposition on that score," he said.

Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) estimated "about half" of the 83 Democrats would vote for the sales tax measure. He said the Democrats would

Co. D Seeking Members; Plans Weekend Program

The Monessen Co. D unit, Pennsylvania National Guard, will seek 25 new members during its two-day "mustering in" program this Saturday and Sunday at the State Armory, Ninth street and Donner avenue.

Capt. Harry Davis, commanding officer, said particular efforts during the drive will be to reach the parents of young men faced with military obligations. He said it is the unit's intention to show parents how young men can best fulfill their obligations by joining the Guard.

In the Guard, Captain Davis said, a young man can receive his initial military training with the active Army and can continue to learn while serving with friends at home. He also said that a Guard recruit can earn extra money, build up a retirement pension and have the opportunity to learn new skills which can be valuable to him in civilian life.

Young men and their parents can obtain additional information by visiting the Armory during the two-day drive.

Wants Guarantees Before Withdrawing Troops; Ike Pleas to Be Condemned

Johnson Regrets Call to 'Pressure'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said Wednesday night he regrets President Eisenhower's call to "bring pressure" on Israel alone to withdraw its troops from Egypt.

Johnson said Israel should withdraw its troops as the President again urged in his nationwide address Wednesday night. But Johnson said "the withdrawal should be accompanied by adequate U.N. action that will not leave Israel defenseless."

"I regret that the administration feels that there is no choice but to bring pressure on one side in a two-sided dispute in the Middle East unless certain terms are met," he said.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland urged before the President's address that the United States demand U.N. sanctions against any nation defying the United Nations — not just Israel.

Says Guarantees Needed

Knowland said after the address that he had not heard it and would not comment until he had studied it.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Israel should be guaranteed fair treatment by Egypt before withdrawing its troops.

"We ought to find a way to gaurantee Israel free use of the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal before we expect her to withdraw," he said. "If we don't Israel will be justified in her attitude."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), also a Foreign Relations Committee member, said "the President seems to have made his extremely difficult decision, and we will do our best to uphold him."

Speech Impresses Smith

"I believe though that if sanctions is the ultimate answer against Israel, the doctrine of equality will have become a mockery."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), another member of the committee, said he was impressed with the President's "strong statement that agressors should have no reward." He said he shared the view "we have got to support the U.N."

But he said he did "not think that any sanctions action should be taken unilaterally against Israel if no action is taken against others who have defied the U.N."

"I favor Sen. Knowland's proposal," he said.

Israel Expected to Reject Ike's Appeal

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP)—Government sources said tonight that Israel is expected to call for an unconditional withdrawal of its forces from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh area of the Gulf of Aqaba.

The government sources said that Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion, who met twice with his cabinet in emergency sessions today, was expected to telephone Washington his negative reply before he makes an announcement to an extraordinary session of the Knesset parliament.

Truman Sees no Justification for Israel Sanctions

ISLAMORADA, Fla. (UP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today he sees no justification for sanctions against Israel as hinted by President Eisenhower.

In his speech to the nation Wednesday night, Mr. Eisenhower said the United Nations "has no choice" but to exert pressure on Israel to get her troops out of disputed Middle East areas.

Mr. Truman, decked in a white sport shirt and sneakers and sporting a wooden cane, made his statement at a news conference beside the beach at his Florida Keys vacation spot.

But he said, "I don't believe in sanctions against Israel...I believe the sanctions should have started when Russia went through the Black Sea's straits."

"We should have kept Russia out of the Mediterranean Sea and kept them from sending arms to Egypt — we could have stopped this situation right then" he said. "There's no sense talking about that now. We've got to deal with the situation as it is."

Awarded Delayed Purple Heart

FORT BUCKNER, Okinawa (UP)—A Pennsylvania Army sergeant was awarded the Purple Heart medal today for wounds he received during World War II in Europe.

Sfc. Charles F. Willits Jr., of 24 North 28th St., Harrisburg, received the delayed Purple Heart and an equally delayed Bronze Star medal during a Washington's birthday review of Army troops on Okinawa.

Ben-Gurion to Reply to Appeal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) —Israel refused to budge today from its demand for guarantees before withdrawing its troops from Egypt despite pleas from President Eisenhower and the threat of United Nations sanctions.

Dispatches from Jerusalem said the nation was in an angry mood reminiscent of the day Israel invaded the Sinai Desert. Israeli sources said it was a foregone conclusion some form of sanctions was in store and that they might follow a public statement from Premier David Ben-Gurion.

The Ben-Gurion statement, expected to be made to parliament and broadcast to the nation, would be in reply to a personal appeal from President Eisenhower sent simultaneously with the President's television address. The statement could come late today.

Ben-Gurion conferred today with Ambassador Abba S. Eban and planned two cabinet meetings in the afternoon to discuss the President's implied support of U.N. "pressure" on Israel if it does not withdraw from Egypt.

The President's speech brought rejoicing in Cairo, but Israel was expected to condemn the President's decision. Initial reaction from Israeli circles in Washington was that Israel does not plan to give in as the President hoped it would.

Votes Not to Withdraw

The Israeli Knesset (Parliament) voted on Jan. 23 to keep the Gaza Strip and not to withdraw from areas along the Gulf of Aqaba until Israel receives firm guarantees that Egypt will not resume its blockade of Israeli shipping. A Jerusalem dispatch said that decision was still binding.

Israel also has expressed fear Egypt would resume Fedayeen commando raids from the Gaza Strip even if U.N. Emergency Forces policed the area. An Israeli military spokesman said Wednesday Egypt had established a new Fedayeen base at El Arish in the Sinai Peninsula from which attacks were being made against Israel.

The statement came after Israel announced two Israeli jeeps had been blown up by newly-laid mines near the border and one Israeli soldier injured.

Sends Appeal To Ben-Gurion

Mr. Eisenhower discussed the "fateful" Mideast crisis in a nationwide broadcast Wednesday night. He expressed hope Israel would withdraw and said if it did not "I believe that in the interests of peace the United Nations has no choice but to exert pressure upon Israel to comply."

Arab sources at the United Nations said he also had sent a second personal appeal to Ben-Gurion to accept the U.N. demand that Israel withdraw immediately.

A Jerusalem dispatch, quoting Israeli reports from Washington, said the President had thrown

Order Dock Workers Back to Jobs Today

NEW YORK (UP)— Striking East Coast longshoremen were ordered back to their jobs today, but by mid-morning it appeared unlikely many would actually work.

There was no shape-up for selection of work gangs in New York this morning. In Philadelphia, workers showed up on the piers but none went to work.

Voting on ratification of the settlement between the International Longshoremen's Association and shippers and local disputes in Baltimore and Norfolk appeared to be holding up resumption of work on the docks.

An insurgent New York local of the ILA refused to return to work until the master contract accepted by the ILA and shippers is ratified by workers in all ports from Maine to Virginia.

Harold Bowers, head of the "luxury row" Local 824, said his men voted Tuesday to return to work only if disputes in all other ports were settled.

"There was no shape-up this morning," he said. "If Baltimore is not satisfied we aren't satisfied either." Bowers made the statement while members of Local 824 voted on whether to accept the settlement.

New York waterfront police said the city's docks were "all tied up." Confusion was general as workers flocked to the waterfront to vote on the settlement. A similar situation existed in Philadelphia and New Jersey ports.

New England longshoremen were not scheduled to return to work before 1 p.m.

Union and shipping officials had expressed hope that 45,000 idled dock workers affected by the strike would be back on the job by Monday. The local disputes in Norfolk and Baltimore could continue to keep 10,000 members of the ILA away from their jobs.

A second New York harbor dispute, a 20-day strike of 4,000 tug and barge crewmen, ended with an agreement early today. But the tugboatmen, members of the United Marine Division of the International Maritime Union, will not go back to work until after the new six-year contract is ratified in voting Friday. The walkout had immobilized 400 harbor craft and cut fuel deliveries by 70 per cent.

Bill to Keep State Jobs for Residents Only

HARRISBURG (UP)—Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton), who has been feuding with the state administration over the appointment of non-Pennsylvanians to top-level posts, has introduced an "anti-carpetbagger" bill in the state Senate.

"I hope this goes down in state history as the anti-carpetbagger bill," Yusko said when he introduced the legislation.

The measure would bar appointment of out-of-state persons to state jobs unless the appointing power could show that "no resident of the Commonwealth who is qualified for the position is available."

In appointing non-Pennsylvanians to cabinet posts, the governor would be required to "certify" that he has made "every effort" to obtain the services of a Pennsylvanian for the job without success.

In civil service examinations, a Pennsylvanian would be given preference for the job over a non-resident without regard to their standing on any eligibility or promotional list.

Eden Walks Off British Liner, But Using Cane

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (UP)—Former British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, weakened by two ship board attacks of fever, walked off the liner Rangitata with the aid of a cane today and told a news cnference "I am feeling better now."

Eden looked pale and drawn after the two recurrences of the intestinal ailment which forced him to resign as prime minister last month.

Dr. Peter Hinds, the 27-year-old ship's doctor, who cared for Eden on the 32-day trip from England, emphatically denied the retired diplomat had suffered a stroke.

Eden arrived here with his wife to start a month-long period of rest and recuperation.

New Zealand Prime Minister Sidney Holland welcomed them at the dock.

Schools in New Reading Approach

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP)—Every child learns to read in his own way and at his own pace.

Some become fluent readers in the first grade. Others need many years of painstaking instruction to master the essential art of modern civilization.

How rapidly a child learns to read is not necessarily an index to his general intelligence. Emotional maturity, ability to perceive fine distinctions in sounds and shapes, and other developmental factors profoundly affect reading ability.

These are the basic concepts of a new approach to reading which is being adopted by many schools. Experts believe it will sharply reduce the "poor reader" problem which has become the number one headache of American education at all levels.

The new approach, which has been a major topic of discussion among the 19,000 school superintendents here for the 83rd annual convention of the American Assn. of School Administrators, calls for sweeping changes in some traditional ideas.

It repudiates, for example, the time-honored notion that reading is a "beginner" subject which should be taught only in the elementary grades. Virtually all authorities now believe that reading courses should continue to be a major part of the cirriculum right through high school.

Emphasis is also being put on the fact that every teacher shares the responsibility of teaching a child to read, and reading improvements should be a goal of every school course, whether in literature, science or even mathematics.

Some Use "Ungraded" System

Another long established educational custom which is being reexamined, and in many areas abandoned, is the rigid division of primary schools into first, second and third grades. In an effort to let each child progress in reading at his own best pace, without hemming him in with arbitrary "norms" for a year's achievement, some schools are turning to an "ungraded primary" system.

Under this plan, grade designations for the first three grades are dropped, and a child is allowed to move at his own speed through a series of "reading levels" until he reaches the level set for completion of the third grade.

If it takes him four years or more to do this, he is spared the psychological blow — and the unnecessary repetition of subject matter he has mastered — which results from the old system of forcing him to repeat a particular grade.

Urging Sprinkler System for All

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Fire Bureau will press for the installation of fire sprinkler systems in all public and parochial schools, nursing homes, orphanages and homes for the aged.

Fire Chief Stephen Adley recommended such installations Tuesday after a city-wide inspection of institutions by Battalion Chief Joseph P. Fay, head of the city fire prevention bureau.

Adley and Fay requested Safety Director Louis Rosenberg to advise Public Schools Superintendent Earl Dimmick and Bishop John F. Dearden, head of the Pittsburgh Catholic Diocese of the fire peril in old school buildings. Similar notices will be sent to heads of other institutions.

Recent multiple-alarm fires here destroyed the Bellefield Trade School for Girls and caused $125,000 damage at the Holy Rosary Parochial School.

Statistics Show Speed not Big Reason for Mounting Traffic Toll

(Fourth in a series)

By ROBERT J. SERLING

NEW YORK (UP) — Is high speed the chief cause of America's frightening traffic toll?

Is the automobile industry contributing to highway slaughter with its race to build more and more horsepower into new cars?

Many Americans would promptly answer yes to both of these questions.

There have even been demands in Congress for such drastic actions as setting a national speed limit of 40-50 miles per hour, and requiring manufacturers to limit the top horsepower and speed of the cars they build.

What Statistics Say

But virtually every reliable statistic gathered on the nation's highway accidents points AWAY from speed as the most important factor in causing injury and death. Cornell University's auto crash injury research program, which has investigated more than 8,000 accidents, reported the following facts on speed:

—The average travelling speed of cars involved in injury-producing accidents is about 48 miles per hour. The average speed at impact is 41 mph.

—People can get hurt as easily and as severely in an accident at 30 mph as they can at 50 mph. Severity of injury as related to speed does not begin to increase to any marked degree until 60 mph is reached. Then the ratio takes a sharp jump.

—In the thousands of accidents studied, 60 per cent of the extremely severe and fatal injuries would still have occurred if the speed of the vehicles involved had been held to 50 mph.

Speed Not Everything

The director of the Cornell project, John O. Moore, says:

"All evidence points to the fact that speed, as an injury-producing factor, is only one segment of the accident problem and then only in a restricted sense. Control of the very high speeds unquestionably would reduce injuries and deaths to some extent. But many more drivers get into trouble at speeds of 50 and below than they do at much higher speeds, and those who believe control of speed is a panacea to the whole safety problem are doing the nation an injustice."

The Cornell researchers have concentrated on what causes injuries in an accident rather than on what causes the accident itself. But their data indicates that the injury and death rate can be reduced more readily by proper designing than by making slower automobiles.

"There must be a parallel effort put forth to de-lethalize the car itself," says Moore, "or the simple factor of controlled speed will be only partially effective."

Meaning Of De-Lethalizing

By "de-lethalizing" an automobile, Moore refers to such devices as padded instrument panels, improved door locks and recessed steering wheels.

Some safety officials might reply that even if speed isn't necessarily a factor in determining how badly a person gets hurt, it's definitely a factor in causing accidents. But even this conclusion is open to question.

The accident rate on high-speed highways like the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Turnpikes is far under the national rate.

Most safety experts point to EXCESSIVE speed, rather than speed itself, as an important factor in causing accidents.

A car doing 30 on ice may be guilty of excessive speed while one going 70 mph on the Pennsylvania Turnpike in perfect weather is not.

Weather and road conditions, traffic intensity, driving ability and the condition of the car itself—say the experts—are all factors in determining whether speed is excessive.

That is why safety organizations like Cornell's research group are against setting a national speed limit applicable to all regions, all drivers and all cars.

"I'm positive," says Moore, "that if you established and enforced a national speed limit of say, 40 miles an hour, you'd wind up with such traffic congestion that you'd have to re-design the entire national highway system."

Are Cars Too Powerful?

What about the frequent charge that Detroit has contributed to the worsening accident rate by making cars too powerful for the roads they drive on? Here's the automotive engineers reply:

—Horsepower has little relation to top speed. The horsepower of a modern car has doubled in the past 10 years but its top speed averages only 15 mph higher.

—Horsepower is needed more for acceleration than for high speeds. You can get more speed by changing a car's gear ratio than by upping its horsepower.

More Smiles Needed

NEW YORK (UP)—Miss Frances G. Knight, head of the State Department's passport division, urged Americans to smile for their passport photos to promote international relations. Miss Knight said "a relaxed photograph is a far better identification for the passport holder than a scowling mug shot."

ACCUSES GREECE — Turkish Ambassador Selim Sarper tells the UN political committee in New York that Greece is supplying arms and money to pro-Greece nationalists on Cyprus. He was arguing against a Greek resolution asking self-determination vote for Cypriots.

Money to Help Train Fishermen

HARRISBURG (UP)—The federal government has allocated $2,475 to Pennsylvania colleges for the training of professional personnel in the field of commercial fishing, the Public Instruction Department said today.

At the same time, $1,505 was earmarked for public vocational education below college level for those preparing for, or employed in fishing occupations and the distribution of sea food products. The fund will be administered by the department for classes conducted by local school districts offering special instruction for the distribution of sea food products.

Steel Users Today Are 'Paying the Piper'

NEW YORK (UP)—Steel users are "paying the piper" for higher steel production costs, Iron Age said today.

The authoritative trade magazine referred to the latest round of increases in steel base and extra prices, which it said, reflect pressure of inflated wage and material costs on the mills.

The boosts have been "substantial", Iron Age said. One large electrical equipment firm put its average at more than $5 per ton, according to the national metalworking weekly. That's in addition to the $8.50 post-strike boost of last August.

Iron Age said the newest price changes have about run their course "for the moment." But, it predicted "there's another round coming up next July," when steel workers are scheduled for a wage increase under their three-year contract.

Meanwhile, Iron Age said steel supply and demand are moving into closer balance except for hard-to-get plates and structurals.

It pointed out sheet users especially are in a position to "call the tune." Mills are "eagerly courting customers who several months ago had to take what was offered and like it," it said.

Iron Age said another highlight of the current picture is that some mills are using tight steel products to pick up orders for more plentiful items.

"Tie-in sales are being made involving seamless pipe, which is tight, and buttweld pipe, which is in good supply," it said.

Iron Age said the entire steel outlook hinges on the inventory policies of major users.

"At the moment, the automakers and appliance manufacturers are still reducing their inventories. Reports from Detroit indicate that the auto companies—at least some of them—are shooting for a 15-day inventory. This is a bare minimum."

Iron Age said "one encouraging note is that two of the big three plan to take out their full allotments for March and probably for April."

La Prensa Critical Of Dulles' Action

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — The newspaper La Prensa criticized Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Wednesday for forbidding U.S. newsmen to enter Communist China.

La Prensa said editorially it believed editors should "defend energetically" the right of newspapers to gather news whenever it occurs.

Cost of Living Hits Record

Some to Get Pay Increases

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported today that the cost of living climbed to a new record in January for the fifth consecutive month.

The increase will bring automatic cost of living pay increases for 1.4 million workers.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that its consumer price index rose two-tenths of one per cent between December and January to 118.2 per cent of average 1947-49 prices. The index has reached new record levels each month since September, 1956.

Ewan Clague, BLS commissioner asked about the outlook for February, said he expects it will continue "to creep up like this."

The January increase means that 1.1 million automobile, farm equipment and aircraft factory workers will get a penny an hour pay hike on March 1.

They include 120.000 workers at Westinghouse Electric Corp. who get a penny an hour increase next month.

Some Get Raises

The bureau said another 300,000 workers in the electrical and some other industries also will get pay raises because their wage contracts also contain cost of living escalator clauses.

The BLS also reported that average take-home pay of factory workers in January and the buying power of their pay checks were at record levels for the month. However, they were below the peak reached in December.

Its report said the average factory worker with three dependents last month earned $74.99 a week after federal taxes. This is some $1.50 below the peak reached in December.

The buying power of the January take-home pay stood at 122.8 per cent of the average for 1947-49, compared to a peak of 125.5 per cent in December.

The bureau said the consumer price index in January reflected lower prices for food and clothing but that these reductions were more than offset by increased prices for all other major groups of goods and services.

Erie Citizens Hold Day in Miami, Florida

MIAMI (UP)— It was Erie Day in Miami today and some 700 citizens from Erie, Pa., made a mass invasion for the festivities.

It was the 18th annual mass visit for the Erie Citizens to Miami and other points in Florida. Miami Mayor Randall Christmas proclaimed today Erie Day and Gov. Leroy Collins designated Sunday as "Erie Day in Florida."

Bob Hanley, general manager of the event and a former Erie resident, said some 700 Erie citizens came here by plane, train and auto for the celebration.

The group receives the keys to the city from the mayor at a lunch today. Entertainment during the visit includes fishing, boating, sightseeing and a day at Hialeah Race Track.

Threat of Jail Is Paying Off

DETROIT (UP) — William G. Campbell and his brother, Robert got up at 3 a. m. and drove from their home in Battle Creek to appear in Detroit's traffic court on a charge of going through a red light and colliding with another car.

Traffic referee John M. Wise found Campbell guilty, learned the brothers had started for Detroit at 3 a. m. and suspended sentence with the comment: "Some people don't even come from around the corner to appear on their court date."

LINKS IKE TO OIL — The "Eisenhower Doctrine" is absolutely and irretrievably tied to the major oil companies, declares Senator Joseph O'Mahoney (D), Wyoming, in Washington. He's chairman of anti-trust subcommittee probing oil for Europe.

Reuther Says Teamsters Must 'Pay or Get Out'

WASHINGTON UP— AFL-CIO Vice President Walter Reuther has indicated the Federations Industrial Union Department IUD) may tell the big international Teamsters Union to "pay up or get out."

The Teamsters Union has served notice it will reduce its dues payments to the IUD from $8.000 a month to $550 a month in March.

Reuther, who heads the IUD, said the IUD executive board meeting here Wednesday voted to inform the Teamsters Union that it can't take such action unilaterally.

Reuther said after the meeting that the Teamsters would have to prove one of two things if it wants to reduce its contribution without being expelled: financial trouble or a loss of members classified as "industrial workers."

The Teamsters Union, with a treasury containing more than $35 million, is one of the nation's richest.

Debate

give the other tax bills a "comfortable" majority.

Readinger said the Democrats were divided on two issues on the sales tax bill. He said many will oppose it because they voted against it during its enactment last session, while "others will favor it as the only alternative and besides we want to kill the stamp plan once and for all."

House Republicans in the 1955-56 session made the stamp plan a condition to their acceptance of the sales tax but it has never gone into operation because of litigation.

The GOP timetable calls for debate on the tax package Monday, and passage on Tuesday. It would be ready for Senate consideration the following week.

House Speaker W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong) conceded there would be Republican opposition to eliminating the stamp plan but predicted passage of the bill. He said the GOP-controlled Senate would amend the sales tax to provide "suitable amendments" to implement collections in lieu of the stamps.

Senate action is expected to be at a minimum with several key Republican lawmakers vacationing in Florida However, the chamber apparently will have to act on the governor's appointment of William L. Batt, Jr., as secretary of Labor and Industry because he is due to take over the cabinet post on March 1.

Batt needs 34 votes,two-thirds majority in the Senate for confirmation but there is a Democratic revolt against Leader's appointment policies.

Ohio Plan to Operate Lake Erie Salt Mine

COLUMBUS, O. (UP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill said today he is considering a plan by private industry to operate a $7.5 million salt mine under Lake Erie.

The International Salt Co. of Cleveland has asked the state to lease mineral rights to 5.100 acres of land under water off the shore of Cleveland.

O'Neill said the company was willing to pay five cents a ton to mine the salt.

The project would take three years before production could begin, the governor said.

O'Neill said the same proposal was made to former Gov. Frank J. Lausche, now a U. S. senator, but no action was taken.

The company predicted that salt production from the under-water area and 200 acres at Whiskey Island in the mouth of the Cuyahoga River would be about 1 to 1.5 million tons a year.

The state would receive $50,000 to $75.000 annually under the lease according to the company.

The governor said plans called for the salt to be deep-mined and no dredging would be involved. The firm has a similar mine at Detroit.

O'Neill said he has asked various state agencies to study the plan and report back to him. The Natural Resources Department, however, already has recommended establishment of the new industry.

O'Neill said he had talked to former U. S. Sen. Thomas A. Burke, of Cleveland, about the proposed mine. Burke represents the company as an attorney.

Sun Oil Files Damage Suit Against Tycoon

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Sun Oil Co. announced today it has filed a $150-million damage suit against Greek shipping tycoon Stavros S. Niarchos.

The suit, filed in New York federal court, charged Niarchos and his World Tankers Corp., of Liberia, with breaking a contract to transport 33,200 barrels of crude oil daily between the Middle East and Sun's Refinery at Marcus Hook, Pa.

Sun charged the contract was made on March 31, 1955, and had 4 1-2 years to run when it was breached by Niarchos last November.

The complaint asserted the "defendants refused to allocate vessels and refused to furnish plaintiff with a schedule of liftings... and failed to provide any further transportation pursuant to said contract."

Sun further charged that "defendants have continued to refuse to perform said contract although duly requested by plaintiff to do so," and that as a result Sun has "sustained and will sustain loss and damage totaling approximately $150-million."

Councilman to Pay Fine, Costs In Cabbie Beating

PITTSBURGH UP)—Raymond Marsilio, 290-pound Conway councilman convicted of beating a 140-pound cab driver, was ordered today to pay $200 fine plus costs.

Visiting Judge Herman M. Rodgers of Mercer County imposed the sentence after refusing a request by Defense Attorney Roy T. Clunk that the defendant be placed under suspended sentence in view of his record as a civic leader in the Beaver County community.

A jury deliberated an hour Tuesday in finding Marsilio guilty of assault and battery in the beating of Edward Pielin in Pittsburgh, in February, 1956.

Pielin testified Marsilio and an unidentified assailant hired his cab and then beat him. He said the attackers ordered him out of the cab and drove off with the vehicle.

Marsilio was cleared of a charge of larceny of the cab. He said he had been drinking the day of the attack and could not recall anything until he found himself in Sewickley.

Nuclear Arms For Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Nuclear weapons will be protecting the Pittsburgh district soon.

Col. T. F. Hoffman, Army commander of anti-aircraft gun installations in the district, said Wednesday night he anticipates the arrival of the Hercules, Talos or nuclear type of Nike.

He assured there is no danger in storing the nuclear missiles.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "they are safer to store than conventional ammunition because fire or shock will not set them off."

The range of the nuclear missiles is twice that of the Nike Ajax with which the installations are now equipped.

Israel

U.S. support behind U.N. actions because he was committed to King Saud of Saudi Arabia to press for withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt.

The Jerusalem reports said the President needs the support of Saud to win Arab support for the "Eisenhower Doctrine" in the Middle East and that that consideration came first. Saud arrives in Cairo later this month for talks with the leaders of Egypt, Syria and Jordan.

Postpone Session

The General Assembly session on the Middle East was postponed —for the third time at request of the United States — to permit "a little more scope" for the President's appeal to Israel to succeed.

The assembly put off its session until Friday afternoon (3 p.m.) upon an appeal to the 27-nation Afro-Asian bloc by U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., upon his return from a Washington conference Wednesday with the President and congressional leaders.

The sanctions resolution demanded by the Arab countries was ready for presentation, as it had been for the last eight days. It had been withheld in hopes Israel would heed the President's appeal and also to line up more sponsors for it.

Jessop Steel in Gains Last Year

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Jessop Steel Company, specialty steel producer, reported today it scored substantial gains in sales and net profits last year.

The company reported sales of $24,850,000 and net profit of $1.5 million for 1956, compared with sales of $16,441,001 and net profit of $700,254 for the previous year.

The 1956 income was equal to $3 per share, compared with $1.42 the previous year.

Here Are Highlights of Eisenhower's Address

WASHINGTON (UP)—Highlights of President Eisenhower's address on the Middle East situation:

"I believe that in the interests of peace the United Nations has no choice but to exert pressure on Israel to comply" with U.N. resolutions ordering it to withdraw its forces from Egypt.

"Of course, we still hope that the government of Israel will see that its best immediate and long-term interests lie in compliance with the United Nations and in placing its trust in the resolutions of the United Nations and in the declaration of the United States with reference to the future."

If the United Nations "does nothing, if it accepts the ignoring of its repeated resolutions calling for withdrawal of invading forces, then it will have admitted failure. This failure would be a blow to the authority and influence of the United Nations in the world and to the hopes which humanity placed in the United Nations as the means of achieving peace with justice."

Such a failure "would, in addition to its injury to the United Nations, jeopardize the prospects of the peaceful solution of the problems of the Middle East. This could bring incalculable ills to our friends and indeed to the nation itself. The United Nations must not fail."

"I do not believe that Israel's default should be ignored because the United Nations has not been able effectively to carry out its resolutions condemning the Soviet Union for its armed suppression of the people of Hungary. Perhaps this is a case where the proverb applies that two wrongs do not make a right."

"No one deplores more than I the fact that the Soviet Union ignores the resolutions of the United Nations. Also no nation is more vigorous than is the United States in seeking to exert moral pressure against the Soviet Union which by reason of its size and power and by reason of its veto in the United Nations Security Council, is relatively impervious to other types of sanction."

First Military Hospital Stands

BOSTON (UP) — Still standing here is America's first official military hospital.

It is the so-called Loring Greenough house in Boston's Jamaica Plain district, which was built by a British naval officer in 1759.

By order of the Provincial Congress in June 1775, the house was made a military hospital. Until the British evacuation of Boston March 17, 1776, Gen. George Washington was a frequent visitor at the house.

Today the historic house is one of several being considered as a possible official mansion for Massachusetts' governor.

Bill to Replenish Mortgage Funds

WASHINGTON UP)—The House has passed stopgap legislation to pump an extra $500 million into the tight market for GI and FHA mortgages.

The bill—passed Wednesday by voice vote and sent to the Senate—would replenish funds of the Federal National Mortgage Association FNMA) which are expected to be exhausted within a few weeks.

The agency serves as a secondary market in buying and selling of government-insured mortgages. It offers to buy up such mortgages from lenders who wish to dispose of them to get funds for new loans. Its buying activities have increased sharply in the present tight money market.

Hundreds Fleeing Vicinity of Volcano

GUATEMALA CITY (UP) — Motorized convoys today helped hundreds of frightened persons flee the vicinity of 12,582-foot Fuego (Fire) Volcano which sent lava, rocks, ashes and sand raining down on their heads.

Governmental authorities and priavte citizens alike sent vehicles into the affected area around the erupting volcano, 30 miles west of this capital, to evacuate threatened towns and coffee estates.

The exodus, which started at dawn Wednesday, continued through the day and Wednesday night.

Mayors in Fight to Oppose Gas Producers

MILWAUKEE (UP) — A committee of mayors has been formed to fight legislation which would exempt natural gas producers from federal regulation. Mayor Frank P. Zeidler of Milwaukee announced.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr.. of New York was named chairman of the National Committee of Mayors, who represent a population of almost 16 million, Zeidler disclosed in a report Wednesday.

The committee planned, Zeidler said, to enlist the support of governors and state attorneys "affected by price rises in natural gas." Also sought by the group will be the support of state regulating bodies and municipal law officers, Zeidler said.

The Milwaukee mayor said Wagner headed a similar group two years ago which opposed gas and oil interests "seeking to escape price regulations by the Federal Power Commission." The new committee, said Zeidler, would act as a "continuing committee" from its previous activity and membership "undoubtedly" would be expanded to include many smaller towns and communities.

Other executives of the committee include Mayor Will Nicholson, Denver, vice chairman; Mayor Ben West, Nashville, Tenn., vice chairman, and Mayor Richardson Dilworth, Philadelphia, secretary-treasurer.

Other members of the committee include Zeidler; Mayor David Lawrence, Pittsburgh, Mayor Andrew Broaddus, Louisville, Ky.; Mayor Albert M. Cobo, Detroit; Mayor John B. Hynes, Boston; Mayor Anthony Celebrezze, Cleveland; Mayor Eric G Hoyer, Minneapolis, and Mayor Joseph Dillon, St. Paul, Minn.

House in First Budget Cut; Still More Than 1956

WASHINGTON (UP) — Economy-minded House members have made their first cut in President Eisenhower's record $71.8 billion peacetime budget.

But they still ended up appropriating more money than last year.

The House Wednesday passed its first appropriations bill of the year, $3,884,927,000 to operate the Post Office and Treasury and the U.S. Tax Court in fiscal 1958.

The bill was $80.3 million less than the President requested.

But it was $250 million more than Congress appropriated for the same agencies for fiscal 1957.

Some congressmen apologized that the cut wasn't deeper. They said they hoped the Senate does better.

Other developments:

Bonds: Chairman Jere Cooper of the House Ways & Means Committee said he has heard no congressional opposition to the government's proposal to boost savings bonds interest rates. The committee called Treasury and Budget Bureau officials to testify on the proposal.

Doctrine: Senate leaders warned senators to start debating the Eisenhower doctrine or vote on it. Interest in debating the Middle East doctrine all but disappeared Wednesday — the second day of what was expected to be a long and heated debate.

Farm: GOP congressmen attacked Democrats for ramming through the House Agriculture Committee a bill opening the soil bank to growers of additional crops. They said the President would veto the bill if it reached him.

Zwicker: The Senate Armed Services Committee asked the Army to return Brig Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker from Korea for questioning about his old feud with Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis). Zwicker is up for promotion to major general. McCarthy opposes it, charging Zwicker with perjury.

Mortgages: The House passed stop-gap legislation that would pump an extra $500 million into the tight market for GI and FHA replenish nearly-exhausted funds of the Federal National Mortgage Assn.

Crewmen Claim Wrecked Trains Had Green Light

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—Crewmen of two New York Central trains that collided near Ripley, N.Y., Feb. 8 testified Wednesday that signals they passed were green as they approached the crash scene from opposite directions.

Firemen Ned W. Thompson of Linesville, Pa., also said the Central's "Easterner" passenger train "did not respond properly" to emergency brakes just before the wreck.

The testimony came at a public hearing into the wreck, which killed Engineer John V. Miller. The hearing is being held by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Kenneth Tuggle. Miller was killed when he jumped from the Easterner's cab just before the collision on an electronically-controlled stretch of track termed by the Central as "the world's safest."

Thompson said an approach signal two miles from the crash scene changed from yellow to green as the passenger train shot by. He said a whistle in the cab would have sounded a warning to reduce speed if the train had gone through a yellow signal. Thompson said the whistle did not sound.

Thompson wept briefly after testifying that Miller placed the air brakes into emergency when they spotted the freight a half mile ahead on the same track.

Eugene G. Kuntz, conductor of the Easterner, testified the eastbound train had "overshot" the Conneaut, Ohio, station by ten car lengths earlier on the run. He said Miller remarked then that "she's a hard train to stop."

New Firm Plans For Building in Armstrong County

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A newly incorporated firm has announced plans for an Armstrong County plant to produce material and equipment for nuclear power installations.

The Nuclear Materials & Equipment Corp., Incorporated of Philadelphia, said the plant would be located in Apollo, near the stainless steel producing centers of Vandergrift and West Leechburg.

The firm said it would use the old finishing and shipping building of the Apollo Steel Co.

Officials of the firm include Dr. Z. M. Shapiro, president; Frederick Forscher, vice president and secretary, and Dr. Leonard Pepkowitz, vice president. All have been associated with atomic energy since World War II.

Shapiro and Forscher were with the Bettis atomic power research center of Westinghouse Electric Corp. and Pepkowitz was chief atomic chemist for eight years for General Electric Corp. at Schenectady, N.Y.

Forscher said "skeleton" operations would start at the Apollo plant in three or four months and full operation would be achieved by the end of the year. He said the plant would employ 100 persons.

Personnel and operations would be under control and authorization of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Forscher said the plant would manufacture various nuclear materials for reactors used in atomic power plants and would also be equipped to conduct special research for industry.

Rabbi Theodore Stampfer will speak on "Brotherhood: As Understood by Washington and Lincoln".

Services will begin at 9:15 p. m.

Ike Suffering Cough, but Is 'Feeling Fine'

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower coughed loudly Wednesday night before making his national radio-TV report on the Middle East situation.

Then he aplogized for his "stubborn cough" and asked for the "indulgence" of his listeners.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said earlier the cough was "just a little" one the President caught during his hunting vacation at Thomasville, Ga. He said the President did not have a fever.

Mr. Eisenhower appeared ruddy and rested when he arrived at his office for the nationwide address. His ruddiness was set off by a slate blue suit.

"I wish you people would ask me some questions," he said genially as he posed for photographers.

A photographer asked him how he felt.

"I am feeling very fine," Mr. Eisenhower said.

Urge Light at End of Belle Vernon Bridge

The Washington County Boroughs Association has proposed that traffic lights be installed on the Speers end of the Belle Vernon-Speers bridge.

Howard Carson, solicitor, was instructed last night to submit this request to N. G. Bell, district highway engineer, by representatives from 20 of the 32 boroughs in the Association.

In addition, Carson was instructed to contact Congressman Thomas Morgan and submit a request that the U. S. Army Engineers make a survey of the erosion of the west bank of the Monongahela River, especially between Allenport and California.

The bank is washing away at an estimated rate of one foot a year, members said at the Centerville meeting.

Anthony Karpus, of Brownsville, president, told the county group of the outcome of a meeting in Harrisburg earlier this week on the economic condition in the county.

Discussed at the Harrisburg meeting was a proposed new bridge connecting Brownsville and West Brownsville with four-mile, four-lane approaches at each end.

The four-mile strips, which would be in Route 40, would be a general access highway.

Also under discussion was the relocating of Route 88 to bypass Blainesburg Hill in West Brownsville and to reroute 88 between California and Roscoe so as to have the road nearer the river and on flatter ground.

Preliminary surveys to relocate Route 88 have already been made by the Highway Department.

State Secretary of Commerce William Davlin said that it is likely that a new industry will be located in the California area even before the proposed roads are built.

Youth Killed by Companion with An Empty Gun

ALTOONA, Pa. (UP) — Clark Brown, 14-year-old grandson of a prominent Blair County labor official, was shot and killed Wednesday night by a teen-aged companion who told police he thought the safety catch was pulled back.

Mahlon G. Granica, 13, said he aimed the rifle at Brown who was talking to a girl friend on the telephone. The shooting occurred in the Granica home where four teen-aged boys had been inspecting rifles.

At first Granica told police Brown had shot himself accidentally but later he admitted the shooting.

The victim was the grandson of Lawrence Schrenk, president of the Blair County Central Labor Union, with whom he made his home.

After the shooting Granica ran to the home of a neighbor who notified police. Police reported finding five rifles and more than 200 rounds of ammunition in the Granica home.

Georgia Senate Opens Debate on Impeachment Of Top U. S. Justices

By UNITED PRESS

Gov. Marvin Griffin's resolution calling for impeachment of six U. S. Supreme Court justices goes to the floor of the Georgia Senate for rush-hour debate today.

The Senate Rules Committee endorsed the House-approved resolution 7-1 with just two full days left in the 1957 state legislative session.

The resolution calls on the Georgia congressional delegations to begin impeachment proceedings on the ground that the justices committed "high crimes" and "misdemeanors" in some decisions concerning segregation and states' rights.

Names Warren

The justices named are Chief Justice Earl Warren, and Associate Justices Tom C. Clark, Felix Frankfurther, Hugo Black, William O. Douglas and Stanley F. Reed.

The Georgia House also began final action on a proposed ban on mixed baseball which theoretically could prohibit a scheduled performance by Negro trumpeter Louis Armstrong and his troupe tonight in Augusta, Ga.

Armstrong and his combo of white and Negro musicians have several other engagements in Georgia this weekend that the bill would prohibit if passed and signed by the governor in time.

Aimed At Negro Players

The main target of the bill is the presence of Negro players on teams of the South Atlantic League.

The House also debated a minor amendment in final action on a bill preventing "persons or organizations from conspiring to break the law for purposes of bringing test suits."

This measure is aimed at curtailing activity of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, whose integration drives have been targets of investigations in Alabama, Louisiana, Florida and Virginia.

$150,000 Loans Approved for Plant Building

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Industrial Development Authority has given final approval to two loan applications totaling $150,000 to community development organizations.

The Lewistown Industrial Development Corp. will receive a $90,000 second mortgage loan to be used for construction of a $300,000 plant for the International Postal Supply Co. of New York. The plant is expected to employ 115 workers and provide an estimated $540,000 annual payroll.

A $60,000 second mortgage loan was granted the New Bethlehem Area Development Co., Inc. for completion of a $705,000 plant operated by the Crawford Furniture Co., Inc., Jamestown, N.Y. When in full operation the plant is expected to provide employment for 250 persons and provide an annual payroll of $720,000.

The authority also tentatively approved a $51,000 second mortgage for the Lehighton Industrial Development Corp., an increase of $12,000 over a previous $39,000 loan to the group. The additional grant is sought to pay additional expenses for the building occupied by the Lehighton Furniture Co.

Boy Scouts in 50th Anniversary Observance Today

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UP)—The Boy Scouts of America joined scouts of 62 other nations today in observance of the 50th anniversary of world scouting and the 100th anniversary of the birth of its founder, Lord Robert S. S. Baden-Powell.

The BSA National Council here said Wednesday the memory of the founder of the Boy Scouts will be honored all this year at meetings and special functions.

The jubilee jamboree, marking the Baden-Powell centenary and the 50th anniversary of world scouting, will gather 35,000 scouts and leaders from many nations at Sutton Park, Warwickshire, England Aug. 1-12.

The 4,526,302 Boy Scouts of America will be represented by 1,600 scouts and leaders who will first camp together at the fourth national jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., July 12-18. They will sail for the jubilee jamboree July 22 from Montreal, Quebec, Canada, on the M. V. "Fairsea."

Baptist Church Holds Achievement Dinner

More than 100 members of the First Baptist Church and Bible School attended an achievement dinner held in the social rooms of the church Tuesday evening.

Highlighting the evening was the observance of the completion of eight years of service here by the Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Erb. They were presented a cash gift.

Reports were given by Robert Mowl, chairman of the deacons, who pointed out that during the past eight years the missionary offering at the church has increased 1300 per cent. Clifford Myers, vice chairman of the trustees, reported on the liquidation of the mortgage covering the remodelling of the Bible School department. James Wilson, board secretary, assisted Myers in burning the mortgage.

It was also reported that the installation of new lights and redecoration of the church auditorium will soon be complete.

Mrs. Charles Harvey presented a library which the Bible School recently won in an attendance contest sponsored by the Conservative Baptist churches of the greater Pittsburgh area.

Musical numbers were sung by members of the choir under the direction of Mrs. Enest Owens, and choruses were sung by the boys and girls of the primary department.

Tribute was paid to Mrs. Hazel Jones, who has been treasurer of the Bible School for 30 years, and to Mrs. Harvey, who has been primary superintendent for 15 years.

A film, "The Family Next Door", concluded the program arranged by the Bible School, of which Kenneth Mahan is superintendent. Table decorations in keeping with the anniversary theme were provided by Mrs. Thelma Wilson.

Sweet Cherries Are Good For Special Desserts

You may or may not believe that traditional story of the complete honesty of George Washington, our first President, in regard to the cherry tree incident. His reputation depends upon other events in his career rather than upon his confession that he chopped down a cherry tree.

Edith Barber

We are grateful, however, to Parson Weems who spread the tale because it seems to show a human quality that other biographies lack. Of course, it is a boon to Food Editors in search of an appropriate subject for a Washington's Birthday story.

While fresh cherries are not in season, there is always plenty of this fruit in canned form for use in pies or other desserts. We often associate sour cherries with pies, but the larger sweet "Royal Anne," golden with a pink blush, or the deep red Big or Lambert are particularly attractive for meringue-topped pies or tarts.

Both the texture and the flavor of the sweet cherries make them appropriate for a dessert without even an extra touch. For a specialty, you may like to flame them for the cherries jubilee, the preparation of which certain restaurants make into a spectacular rite.

CHERRY MERINGUE PIE

1 No. 2½ can Royal Anne cherries
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup cherry syrup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
Few drops red food coloring
3 eggs
¼ teaspoon peppermint flavoring
1 9-inch baked pie shell

Drain cherries, reserving syrup, and remove pits. Combine sugar, salt and cornstarch. Add cherry syrup, lemon juice and rind, and cook until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Add pitted cherries and food coloring and remove from heat. Beat egg yolks slightly and stir in a little of the hot mixture. Add to remaining cherry mixture. Cook slowly 2 to 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Add peppermint flavoring and pour into baked pie shell. Top with meringue made by adding 6 tablespoons sugar to the 3 stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in moderate oven (350 degree F.) about 10 minutes or until lightly browned.

CHERRIES JUBILEE

1 No. 2½ can dark red cherries
2 1-inch sticks cinnamon
12 whole cloves
1 cup cherry syrup
¼ cup heated rum

Drain cherries, reserve syrup, and pit. Place in skillet. Add stick cinnamon and whole cloves and sprinkle with sugar. Add cherry syrup, cover and let simmer over low heat until sugar melts. Remove cover, add heated rum, set on fire and baste fruit until flame disappears. Serve at once in deep sauce dishes, or use as sauce for ice cream. Yield: 6 servings. Note: A dash of Angostura may be added after the sugar melts.

New Nutrition Words Now Part Of Vocabulary

The nutrition vocabulary enlarges regularly. Readers see in print such words as vitamins and calories, and talk glibly about them, even if uncertain as to their true meaning. Recently, another word has been added to general conversation.

This is cholesterol — a little more difficult to pronounce as well as to understand. For some time it was believed that foods containing this should be avoided, especially by those with any heart or artery condition. One of the first food studies was the egg, and for quite a while, it was in the limelight, although it contains but a small amount of cholesterol.

Further study has shown that the body makes its own cholesterol, and that no type of diet prevents this. Evidently, a certain amount of cholesterol is needed by nature. The recommendations of nutritionists now is to keep weight to normal and, in the interest of this, there must be calorie reduction.

As fat — weight for weight — contains twice as many calories as do sugar and starch, care should be taken to avoid foods naturally high in fat or dishes in which a large amount of fat is used. We can still have good meals on a low-fat diet.

BAKED EGGS IN TOMATO SAUCE

Combine 1 can condensed tomato soup with 2 tablespoons each of minced celery, green pepper and onion. Heat, and place 2 tablespoons in each of 4 muffin cups. Break 1 egg into each cup, sprinkle with salt and pepper and remaining soup mixture. Top with cracker crumbs and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes until eggs are set.

MERINGUES

3 egg whites
6 cup sugar
Dash of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Beat the egg white until stiff and dry. Beat in gradually ½ cup sugar and the salt. Fold in remaining sugar and vanilla extract. Drop meringues by tablespoonfuls on ungreased baking sheet, piling mixture high in center. Bake in slow oven (275 degrees F.) about 40 to 45 minutes, until meringues are dry on the surface and will slip off the sheet easily. Remove from sheet with wet knife. Yield: 10 medium-sized or 18 small meringues or kisses.

PALE PINK CHERRIES and a smidgin of peppermint are tucked beneath a blanket of meringue in this modern pie for Washington's Birthday — or any other frosty day.

Molasses Used in Dessert

In scanning old cookbooks it seems amazing to find so many recipes that call for molasses. Actually this liquid sweetening was in early days more plentiful than refined sugar.

It was easier to use as it could be poured from the jar, while the huge sugar loaves — usually cone-shaped — had to be broken and pounded before the sugar could be used as an ingredient. Today, molasses is in cans or bottles, and fine sugar packed in cartons.

Often one will find a recipe for ginger cake, which should more justly be termed molasses cake as this depends for its texture and flavor upon the liquid sweetening. The use of buttermilk or sour milk produces a tender cake. The molasses pie recipes of an earlier date range from the simple shoo-fly type, for which molasses is simply drizzled over pastry before baking, to those that call for a cakelike filling. A compromose between the two types is a recipe that was a forerunner of today's popular pecan pie. It called for butternuts, black walnuts or hickory nuts, whichever the nearby trees provided.

Molasses Nut Pie

3 eggs, beaten
½ cup sugar
½ cup water
¾ cup mild molasses
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 cup chopped pecans or other nuts
1 tablespoon flour
Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell

Combinations of Tapioca Provide Varied Desserts

Almost all have special favorites among desserts. These are almost always tied up with childhood memories. Then, desserts were very important items of meals. Even later in life, a sweet usually adds a satisfying touch at the end of a meal.

In many households several combinations of tapioca with custard or with fruit was popular.

The flavorings may be varied. Brown sugar may replace white sugar, or a little almond flavoring may be added with the vanilla. Instant coffee may be dissolved in the milk. Or maple syrup may replace half the sugar.

Apples, figs or cranberries also combine well with tapioca. The berries will produce an attractive colorful dessert. After chilling, it should be topped with whipped cream. The recipe for tapioca cream is printed by request for someone who enjoyed it at my house recently.

CRANBERRY TAPIOCA

2 cups cranberries
½ cup water
1¼ cups sugar
¾ cup quick-cooking tapioca
½ teaspoon salt
3½ cups boiling water

Cook cranberries in the ½ cup water in covered saucepan until skins burst, about 5 minutes, and remove from heat. Stir in sugar. Add tapioca and salt to boiling water and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until tapioca is clear, about 5 minutes. Add cranberries and cook 2 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour in serving dish. Chill. Unmold and serve with whipped cream. Yield: 6 servings.

CREAM TAPIOCA

2 egg yolks
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
⅛ teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons sugar
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon vanilla

Place egg yolks in saucepan. Beat and combine with ¼ cup milk. Add tapioca, salt, 2 tablespoons sugar and remaining milk. Stir over medium heat until mixture boils. Beat egg white until stiff. Fold in 3 tablespoons sugar gradually and continue beating until meringue is stiff. Fold the hot mixture gradually into the meringue. Add flavoring. Pour into a serving bowl. Coool and then chill. Yield: 6 servings.

All the Hullabaloo Was Unnecessary

THE HULLABALOO in Westmoreland County over how, when, where and to whom anti-polio vaccine is to be administered seems to us to be pretty much a tempest in a teapot which could have been avoided by the use of a little quiet common sense on all sides.

To begin with, the county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which sometimes seems to have more money than prudence, went into an emotional trance as if polio was knocking on the door of every home in the county.

There is, of course, no emergency as regards polio and there never has been except in some rare epidemic areas. In fact, even in epidemic polio years, cancer kills more than four times as many children as polio. And although modern medicine can cure as many as two out of five cancer cases which are detected in time, nobody is demanding that the medical profession drop everything else and line up the whole population for mass cancer examinations.

The Salk vaccine, to be sure, is an important medical discovery which every sensible person wants to see fully effective as quickly as possible. There is reason to believe that it might eventually wipe out polio.

But the nation had a tragic experience with the preparation and administration of Salk vaccine under the pressure of emotional publicity. A number of children paid with their lives to teach us that lesson. Yet here again a unit of the NFIP is substituting emotion for deliberate, careful, scientific procedures.

* * *

FOR ITS PART, it seemed to us that the Westmoreland County Medical Society was much too ready to bristle. The advertisement which it published in the newspapers turned out to be a rather routine defense of the medical profession against socialization.

Doctors have a right to be sensitive on this score — the threat is a real one. Moreover, fair-minded people can appreciate how doctors must have felt when they were told, almost in so many words, that they had to go for a mass inoculation program designed by others — or else. No self-respecting person likes to be pushed around.

Nevertheless, we think the Medical Society's officers might have kept their eyes on the ball. They are surely aware that maximum use has not been made of the Salk vaccine and that they had some responsibility for stepping up the rate of injections before the next polio season. If that couldn't be done in the course of their normal relationships with their patients, then some auxiliary approach was indicated.

Now that the shouting is simmering down, such an approach seems to be developing. The doctors are making themselves available in their offices all day Saturday for the administration of vaccine, and persons over 20 who cannot pay need merely say so and will be inoculated without charge. All children under 20 will be inoculated free.

This is something like it. And we suspect it could have been arranged with a great deal less furor.

Time to Say 'No'

THE PUBLIC officials and civic leaders of the City of Pittsburgh have developed the habit of trooping to Harrisburg to tap the state treasury to help finance all sorts of community projects and enterprises. Just the other day Mayor Lawrence led a delegation to the state capital for the purpose of scrounging $750,000 of state funds to help Pittsburgh celebrate its bicentennial in 1958.

Now the founding of Pittsburgh was an historic event which ought to be adequately celebated. But we venture to suggest that if Pittsburgh is entitled to state funds for such a purpose, so is every other community, large and small, throughout the state. And obviously that is a financial impossibility, even if the state government's finances were in good shape which they are not.

Pittsburgh is big and therefore politically powerful. As the metropolis of Western Pennsylvania it is also economically important, which is to say rich. But all of these strike us as reasons why Pittsburgh, even more than other communities, should put on its own show with its own money.

The state government has been very good to Pittsburgh for many years — too good in some respects. The famous "renaissance", for which Mayor Lawrence receives the lion's share of the political credit, has to a large extent been financed, not out of Pittsburgh taxes, but out of state taxes paid by all of us. The Point Park development and the spectacular and expensive parkways, for instance, have been paid for mainly with state money.

It is time, we believe, for members of the legislature outside of Allegheny County to begin to look more closely at these continuous requests for more and more state funds for Pittsburgh. And there couldn't be a better place to begin saying "No" than to this appeal for $750,000 for the bicentennial celebration.

New Conflict Of Interest Is Reported

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — On top of the embarrassing resignation of Robert Tripp Ross as Assistant Secretary of Defense because of a conflict of interest, another conflict has cropped up in the Pentagon. This is the eighth conflict of interest to plague the Eisenhower administration.

Mr. Pearson

The latest is that of Robert Carr Lanphier, Jr., deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense in charge of supply and logistics. Despite the high position given him in the Eisenhower administraton and despite his post in charge of supplies, Lanphier did not resign his position as vice president of the Sangamo Electric Supply Co. of Springfield, Ill., which has defense contracts with the government.

Lanphier was not available for comment. However, his self-penned biography in the latest edition of Who's Who states that he is simultaneously deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense since 1954 and vice president of Sangamo Electric, a firm of which his brother is president. He is also an executive of Sangamo Weston, Ltd., a British subsidiary. Other subsidiaries are Allied Tool and Machine, Sangamo Generators, Ind., and Capitol Aviation, Inc.

Poor's Directory of business firms states that Sangamo "manufactures special products for the department of defense. It has done confidential work for the Department of Defense since 1941."

It is against the law for a government official to accept office if he retains stock or financial interest in any company doing business with the government.

Truman on the Senate

Ex-President Truman told freshman Sen. John Carroll (D., Colo.) recently how he felt when he first came to the Senate.

"The first six months," he said, "I wondered how I ever got elected. The next six months, I wondered how the other 95 ever got elected."

Moonbeam Resolution

During the closed-door debate on President Eisenhower's Middle East proposals, Georgia's astute Sen. Dick Russell tied a tag on the Eisenhower Doctrine. He called it the "moonbeam resolution."

"This is a moonbeam resolution," he snorted. "I feel like I'm in a dark room with a moonbeam coming through a small crack. I have tried to grasp it, but I can't get hold of it.

"I have wrestled with Mr. Dulles (Secretary of State). I have wrestled with Admiral Radford (chairman of the Joint Chiefs)," Russsell continued. "But I can't get any information. The underlings know how the aid money is to be spent. King Saud and his underlings went back to Saudi Arabia. They know what the money will be used for. But I can't get any information about anything from anyone. It's a moonbeam. I can't get hold of it."

Sanctions and Israel

While Senate Republican Leader Bill Knowland made headlines with his blast opposing economic sanctions against Israel, Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson sent a sharp, private letter to Secretary of State Dulles that never leaked to the papers.

Calling the proposed sanctions a "most unwise move," Johnson wrote: "To put it simply, the United Nations cannot apply one rule for the strong and another for the weak; it cannot organize its economic weight against the Little State when it has not previously made even a pretense of doing so against the Large States. I have, Mr. Secretary, seen no suggestions in the United Nations of the application of economic sanctions against the USSR. Israel has in very large part complied with the directives of the United Nations. Russia has not even pretended to be polite.

"I have, as you know, been urging during the discussion of the Middle East a determined effort by the United Nations and by the United States to go to the root causes of the troubles in the Middle East," Johnson added in his private letter.

"One of these causes has been the hostile activity against Israel on the part of Egypt from the Gaza Strip and the threat of activity in the Gulf of Aqaba. I think you will agree that it is not utterly unreasonable for Israel to request guarantees by the United Nations that these attacks against her will not once more be prevalent, once she has withdrawn her troops from these two areas. Yet, I have seen no suggestion in the United Nations that economic sanctions should be applied against Egypt to force that State to agree to permanent cessation of hostile activities from those areas."

Acknowledging a "tendency to oversimplify a moot complicated issue," Johnson nevertheless insisted that "justice and morality are clear against such imposition of economic sanction."

Are U. S. Reds Going Titoist?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

It would be shortsighted as well as inaccurate to say that the Communist party in the United States can never free itself from Moscow control.

It could — and maybe it will. I wouldn't accept the Communist party's own say-so that the event has already taken place.

Mr. Drummond

We'll know when, and if the Communist party quits being the tool of the Soviet Union. It will take more than vague words in a vague resolution to prove it.

There is, of course, every reason to welcome, as the lesser of two evils, the nationalist trend which some Communist parties are taking, a trend away from total Kremlin subservience. Tito started it and Titism became so strong that Moscow has had to pretend that it likes it. Nationalist Communism has won out in Poland. It almost carried Hungary totally outside the Soviet orbit until the Kremlin pulled the iron reins up short. There are visible stirrings in the Communist parties throughout Western Europe for some independence of Soviet dictation.

U. S. Reds Join Move

And now, some — perhaps most — of the leaders of the Communist Party in the United States say they are for the same thing and at their recent national convention in New York they passed a resolution which their press officer (reporters were not allowed to cover the proceedings at first hand) interpreted as meaning that they were "freeing themselves from the Moscow party line."

Are they really? Or are they only appearing to do so because it seems momentarily prudent? No political party in this country which puts loyalty to a foreign power ahead of loyalty to the United States, which is controlled by and is willingly the instrument of a foreign government and whose leaders find excuses to condone the Soviet repression of the brave Hungarians who dare fight for their freedom — no such political party can expect to win credentials with the American people.

This is why Robert S. Bird, the sagacious New York Herald Tribune correspondent covering the Red meeting in New York, wrote:

"As matters now stand, (Communist) Party policy-makers may or may not follow the Moscow line as they choose. One effect of the switch from traditional enslavement to Moscow dictates will be to give the party an unaccustomed freedom of maneuver in shifting to new positions to meeting changing situations in this country. The party hope is that it will help in ending its present isolation on the American scene, and its low prestige where it formerly had strength."

The American Communists have not broken with their Moscow idols but have only "resolved" that they might do so.

'Interpretation' Issues

How precise was the resolve? Well, you can decide. The American Communists who said they wanted to be independent of Moscow favored a resolution which stated that the Communist Party in the United States "interprets and applies the principles" of Marx, Engels and Lenin and those who said they wanted to be dependent on Moscow wanted to substitute the words "creatively applies" for "interprets and applies." There it is. The phrase "interprets" won out — and all the anti-interpret Communist leaders were put back on the party executive committee.

This distinction may sometime prove to be full of difference.

"Deviationist" is a rough epithet in the Communist vocabulary. Perhaps the majority of American Communists is asserting its right to be deviationist if it wished. But it remains to be seen whether this is a prudent tactic.

The judgement of the Subversive Activities Control Board that the Communist Party is in fact a "Soviet tool" rests upon a long record of acts, not on words alone. When Russia attacked and annexed part of tiny Finland, the American Communists thought it was dandy. They hated Hitler one month and loved him the next — after Stalin made his deal with Hitler. When the Nazis attacked Poland and France and Britain, this was an "imperialist" war. But when the Nazis attacked the Soviet Union, then to the American Communists it was time to resist — not before.

I wouldn't want to deter the American Communists from going Titoist, but I suggest we wait to find out whether they really are.

Beware, the Punsters

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—Those awful people, the Society for the Preservation of the Pun as a Form of Humor, will be in our midst in annual convention in six more weeks.

Mindful that the best defense is a good offense, some of us are stockpiling ammunition of the most horrible kind—fiendish weaponry designed to maim and mutilate—in preparation for a counter-attack as soon as the enemy strikes.

And strike they will, because the real gone punster, a man who sinks deeper daily in the putrid mire of his addiction, cannot resist loosing his tortured mind on others.

Here's Exhibit "A"

It may not be generally known, but a rather distant cousin of Syngman Rhee came to this country from Korea and got a job in New York on the magazine, Life. He came to work for one day, and on the second day failed to show up.

A week went by, and he didn't show. The people at Life were terribly perturbed. They phoned his hotel, checked all possible points where he could be visiting. Finally, they organized posses and began fine-toothing the city block by block.

At length, a searcher entered a certain Third Avenue bar, and there, transfixed on a stool, was his man. Overcome with joy and relief, the searcher rushed up and —please brace yourself—exclaimed:

"Ah! Sweet Mr. Rhee, of Life, at last I've found you."

Such blunderbusses as this must be ever at the ready in your arsenal to combat an onslaught of punsters. However, they can be lethal when used against a normal person. Before using, you should study your man carefully.

If he shows signs of being an apoplectic type, please keep such shudderment as "Sweet Mr. Rhee" well hidden. Some people have a way of exploding and bursting into flames over such things. I once knew a newspaper photographer in Cleveland who chewed up and swallowed an entire sports page, complete with cartoon, of the Cleveland Press when a sportswriter perpetrated a particularly vile pun on him.

A True Story

All right, so maybe you'd like a true story about New York. At least, a taxi driver told it as true, and there's no reason to think he made it up.

"These two outta-town ladies — middle-aged dames obviously in from the sticks for the first time —get in my cab for a short sightseeing trip," the cabbie said. "Well, one of them sets herself up as an authority, telling the other about the Empire State Building, and things, and then she's talking about wages.

"She says: 'You know, the cab drivers here make $200 and more a week.' Well, I'm sittin' up here boilin' about that crack. Pretty soon one of them says to me, 'Driver, there's no ashtray in here.' I say to her, 'That's all-right, lady, drop it on the floor; my maid sweeps it out every morning.'

"So the first dame says to the other: 'See, Gladys, what'd I tell you?'"

Probe of Union Funds May Be Big Affair

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Teamsters' Dave Beck is the biggest fish hooked by Senate investigators in a great many years, perhaps since Gen. Douglas MacArthur answered up to questions about the Korean war.

The investigation in which Beck will star is in an area likely to reward painstaking spade work. The area to be covered embraces the financial affairs of organized labor with special emphasis on racketeering and embezzlement of union funds.

Mr. Wilson

Big headlines and big news are the least to be expected from the Senate inquiry. Or a careful and orderly investigation might show that there was nothing rotten in the administration of union treasuries. That also would be a maximum expectable, although improbable, result of the inquiry now about to begin.

Convincing Case Necessary

The point is this: The circumstances under which the inquiry begins are such that a real opportunity finally is offered to determine to the public satisfaction either that union funds are honestly administered or that the administration is dishonest and in need of legislative correction.

By legislative correction is meant amendment of the Taft-Hartley Law to impose on the administrators of union funds such regulations as the Senate investigation may tend to show are necessary. A solid and convincing case for such amendment of the Taft-Harley Law must be made before Congress will act.

The desirability of amending Taft-Hartley has been conceded by now all around, including a concession embracing a score of amendments favored by the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. Taft-Hartley, however, has become so bogged in partisan politics and charges of slave-labor objectives that amending efforts have been stymied so far before they began.

Partisan Hump an Obstacle

To lift the Taft-Hartley controversy over the partisan hump into the field of the general welfare will require the most dedicated self control by Senate investigators. If the line of inquiry tends to whitewash evil practices or, on the contrary, to bully and bedevil labor witnesses, one large body of public and congressional opinion or the other will be offended—and the opportunity for an orderly and convincing presentation of the facts will blow out the window along with all chance of remedial legislation, if such proves to be needed.

All is the responsibility of the committee. Its beginnings are not reassuring. The Senate investigators comprise a special committee born of a contest between two standing committees for the authority to conduct an inquiry assured of the blessing of maximum publicity and public attention. It might even win television rank.

Indonesia Is Moving Toward Dictatorship

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Indonesia, after years of political turmoil, is about to undergo a fundamental change in its governmental system.

President Sukarno—he has no first name—plans to announce today the setting up of a "high council" which will rule the country and relegate the cabinet to a secondary position.

Sukarno calls his plan a "new conception" and says he is aiming at establishing a "guided democracy."

But it is already being predicted that the plan will not bring stability to the country, the fifth largest in the world in population.

The new system may soon turn into a dictatorship, with Sukarno as head man.

In any event, Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo, attacked by other political leaders, threatened by the dissatisfied army, is likely to go.

Became Republic In 1949

Indonesia became an independent republic in 1949 after a rebellion against the Netherlands.

It was set up as "The Republic of the United States of Indonesia" —and that is where the trouble lies.

Indonesia consists of about 3,000 islands, sprawled over a 2,500-mile width of the Indian Ocean, the South China Sea and the Pacific Ocean.

Java, Sumatra, Borneo and Celebes are the main islands. The center of government is in Java, with Jakarta as the capital.

People of Sumatra, Borneo, Celebes and the countless smaller islands say that the country is run, and its rich revenues used, for the benefit of Java.

Ever since the republic was established, the government has been beset by chronic revolts in various islands. Small areas of Java itself have been in revolt for years under leaders of the fanatic Darul Islam movement.

Joined by Army Heads

The situation was brought to a head last December, when army commandants revolted in two parts of Sumatra, whose rich oil and rubber resources contribute 71 per cent of Indonesia's foreign currency revenues.

President Sukarno announced his plan for a "high council" on January 17. He said the establishment of the council was necessary "to save Indonesian democracy."

As outlined, the council will consist of leaders of political parties and representatives of labor, peasants, youth and other organizations and the army.

Among the parties to be represented are the Communists, who polled more than 20 per cent of the votes in the first national election in 1955. One source of complaint against Premier Sastroamdjojo is that he has played too intimately with the Communists. He has needed them to maintain his unwieldy coalition government.

But it looks as if the new high council will be just as unwieldy, and that a dictatorship under Sukarno may result.

ON THE BALL

By ALLEN KLINE

It Was Janosik Who Held out Carl

It was Monessen High basketball coach Frank Janosik who made the decision to keep Carl Crawley out of the Charleroi game the other night. The 6-0 senior, who was bruised up in an auto accident last Saturday, wanted to play after physical examinations revealed no apparent injuries. However Janosik said no. "The boy was obviously shaken up in the accident," explained Janosik. "It would have been foolish to risk any permanent injury by playing him against Charleroi. We like to win, but not at any cost." . . . Without Crawley, Monessen was no match for the Cougars, who posted a 50-40 decision to clinch their eleventh Mon Valley basketball title.

* * *

Incidentally, the Greyhounds had a hard time leaving Charleroi after this week's game. The bus broke down en route home and MHS basketballers were "stranded" in the Magic City for more than an hour. Last year, the same thing happened when the Monessen bus snapped an axel. It seems that the team's shortest trip of the season always takes the longest . . . There was surprising sentiment in Charleroi to have Tuesday's game moved to the MHS gym to accommodate more fans. A couple of Charleroi School Directors favored the move, but the CHS coaching staff nixed the scheme for obvious reasons.

* * *

Incident Results in Stiff Penalty

An unpleasant incident following last week's Donora-Monessen basketball game has resulted in a stiff penalty for the culprits. It seems two Monessen High seniors "roughed up" a Donora student without provocation near the gym following the game. The Donora boy identified his assailants through yearbook pictures. According to MHS principal Henry Furio, the boys admitted their guilt, claiming they were treated similarly in Donora. The alibi got them nowhere, though. They were suspended from school and sent home to their parents for further punishment. "We are, of course, sorry for the incident," said Furio. "We will try to see that it never happens again."

* * *

Derry Twp., new Section 10 basketball champions, have averaged 40 per cent of their field goal attempts in their last seven games . . . Gene Zimmerlink, former Redstone High athlete and Pirate farmhand, left last week for the Army . . . Mickey Glod, former Centerville High footballer in the late thirties, has resigned as head football coach at Nebraska State Teachers College. His team posted a 6-2 record last season . . . Reportportedly St. Vincent College will challenge Duquesne to a post season basketball game with the proceeds to go toward the Bearcat Library Fund. Fund.

Everybody Still Loves a Winner

Everybody loves a winner. In Donora, the varsity basketballers haven't exactly lured full houses this season. Yet the Donora Junior High team packed the gym for an afternoon assignment against Charleroi last week. The Dragon Juniors rewarded their followers with an easy success which assured them the Section 2 title . . . Pitt's unbeaten grapplers have already been installed as the team to beat in the 53rd renewal of the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association championships at Penn State on March 15-16 . . . There are three McKeesport High grads on the current Clemson College freshmen team: Wally Gibbons, Glenn Shample and George Krajack.

Americans Turning out 'Masterpiece' Rifles

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Daniel Boone never had it so good as the marksmen of today.

The tip-off on this comes from Ed Agramonte, one of the nation's top gunsmiths. The reason is that, competing for the market against the eye-catching handwork of foreign guns, American craftsmen are turning out firearms which look like they should be in Tiffany's window.

You can get rifles with right-hand or left-hand stocks, bolt action and cheek rests and the whole shot is made to fit you whether you're short or tall, thin or fat.

For Human Tanks

I don't know whether there are any rampant rhinos, errant elephants or loose lions in your neighborhood. But, if there are, Agramonte has developed a new ultra-high velocity rifle, the .378 Magnum, which does everything but mount the trophy over your fireplace.

This $1,000 baby has a gleaming inlaid mesquite stock and a telescopic sight which makes the target look as big as a 21-inch television screen. All you do is center the cross hairs and—POW—from 400 yards you're as good as deadwood dick.

For ordinary American game Agramonte suggests a 30.06 Mathias rifle which costs only $350, although you can get the same calibre in factory-machined rifles for as low as $150.

In the shotgun line, the newest gimmick is the Remington 58, in 12, 16 and 20 gauge. This gun has a gas-operated tube which draws off the gases and operates the mechanism. For the average man, Agramonte suggests the 12-gauge with the 20-gauge for women.

Handles Antique Guns Too

Agramonte, whose shop is in Yonkers, N.Y., also deals in antique weapons.

He says these are getting increasingly more difficult to locate because collectors spend millions of dollars every year buying them up.

There are getting to be less places to shoot, too, because of building development, and Agramonte feels that local and state rifle associations are going to have to band together to obtain adequate ranges.

Proving, probably, that maybe old Dan'l Bonne did have it pretty good, after all.

Notre Dame in Bowling Win

Notre Dame blanked Duquesne in St. Cajetan Bowling League action last night.

In other matches, St. Vincent won a pair from Fordham and St. Francis took two from Georgetown.

Top scorers were Ralph Greco, 170-443; Joe Luketich, 182-470; Ed Masci, 159-426; Al Greco, 204-491; Patsy Santoro, 160-475; John Catanzaro, 177-409.

Standings show Notre Dame, 13-5; St. Vincent, 10-8; St. Francis, 10-8; Duquesne, 9-9; Georgetown, 9-9; and Fordham, 3-15.

Junior High Playoff Monday

Rostraver, Vernon to Seek Title

BULLETIN

Vernon and Rostraver will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in the Monessen High School gym, according to an announcement made at noon today by Albert Ferrarra of the Junior WPIAL Basketball Committee.

Rostraver and Vernon Junior Highs will meet Monday to decide the Section 3 title. But nobody knows exactly where.

Ever since the two schools ended in a tie on Tuesday in the final standings, officials have been trying to agree on playoff arrangements.

Vernon balked at a suggested meeting tonight in Donora, pointing out that the Puppies would be forced to play with just one day's rest, compared to Rostraver's two.

School officials at Rostraver agreed to go along with the Vernon reasoning even though that created a new problem. It seems no suitable gyms are available for the proposed Monday date.

Hold Open Floor

At Donora, the floor is being held open for a possible Class B playoff date.

And Monessen frightened off Junior WPIAL authorities by asking for a $100 rental fee.

Today the two schools were trying to get Monessen to come down on its price. If that fails, they'll seek out another playing site.

During the regular season, the two schools split, both winning at home. Vernon copped 35-33, while Rostraver won, 36-25.

Section 5 Race to Wind up Tomorrow

For all practical purposes the Section 5 basketball race ended on Tuesday when Charleroi tripped Monessen to clinch the crown.

However the regular-season schedule still has three more games to go. They will be played tomorrow.

Charleroi, the 1957 champion, will try to keep its perfect league record intact at Donora. The Cougars are heavy favorites to win, even though they had a fairly tough time with the Dragons earlier in the year.

Monessen will wind up its season against Monongahela, an unpredictable team which has been both good and bad, but mostly bad.

Another Section 5 game will send Brownsville to California.

Derry at Rostraver

In Section 10, the new champion, Derry Twp., will appear at Rostraver. The Leps would like to win to salvage some prestige out of the current campaign.

Other Section 10 games will show Dunbar at Ramsay and Hurst at Ligonier.

The big game of the night will take place in Section 17 where West Newton will play host to Irwin.

If the Golden Hornets win, they will create a probable three-way tie for first place in the final league standings. A victory for Irwin will clinch things for the Black Knights.

Perry in Action

Perryopolis, also a contender, will appear at East. Should West Newton win, then Perry will also move into the first place picture providing East is handled.

Another Section 17 game will show Sewickley Twp. at S. Huntingdon.

Big Gate Seen For Welter Bout Friday Night

By JACK CUDDY

CLEVELAND, (UP) — Friday night's gate for the Carmen Basilio-Johnny Saxton welterweight title "rubber match" will range between $110,000 and $150,000, the biggest fight gate here in 26 years.

"It will be the biggest since Max Schmeling defended his heavyweight title against Young Stribling here in 1931," Promoter Larry Atkins predicted. "Schmeling and Stribling, fighting outdoors, drew 37,390 fans and $349,415."

Champion Basilio and ex-champ Saxton of New York are tangling indoors for the third time. The crowd will range between 11,000 and a capacity 12,700 at the Cleveland Arena, the promoter said. Ticket prices range from $5 to $20.

Atkins has been pleasantly surprised by the heavy sale for this scheduled 15-round, nationally televised and broadcast bout. It was originally slated for Jan. 18, but was postponed five weeks because the champion suffered a bruised right hand in training. A postponement usually cuts down the gate.

Cleveland had several previous TV-radio bouts, but this is the first time it ever had a local blackout. Despite it, the TV-radio money is $60 000

Basilio of Chittenango, N.Y., is favored at 13-5 to register his second victory over streamlined Saxton in their series of three title fights, despite the fact he has been training with a tender hand.

Saxton recaptured the 147-pound crown from Carmen in their first engagement on a questionable decision, at Chicago, last March 14. But Basilio won it back from Johnny on a ninth-round TKO at Syracuse, N.Y., last Sept. 12.

Dark Finishes First in Golf

LAKE WORTH, Fla., (UP) — Alvin Dark of the St. Louis Cardinals may be nearing the end of his major league career, but from the way he has been shooting golf of late he might have little trouble making the transiton from the baseball diamond to the golf links.

The slender shortstop, who may lose his job as a regular with the Cardinals because of wear and advanced age, fired a four-over-par 74 Wednesday to win the 54-hole Cavalcade of Champions golf tournament with a 218 — seven strokes better than his nearest rival.

Pitcher Lou Kretlow of the Kansas City Athletics finished second to Dark with a 225 total. He fired a 73 in the final round, as only 12 major leaguers turned out.

Monessen Juniors Top Monongahela By 35-31 Score

Fighting off a last ditch rally, Monessen Junior High basketballers registered a 35-31 victory over favored Monongahela yesterday at the MHS gym.

Pulling ahead just before halftime, the Junior Hounds stayed in front the rest of the way. However the much taller Monongahelans made it close in the closing seconds.

High for Monessen was John Macik with 10 points, while Tom Thomson led the visitors with 12.

The win closed the Junior Hounds season with eight wins and ten setbacks. It also avenged an earlier 29-20 defeat authored by the Kittens on their own floor.

CSTC Varsity Club Plans Cage Show for Kadis

The Varsity Club at California State Teachers College has joined the drive to raise funds for Richard Kadis, the injured Geneva football player whose medical bills already total more than $16,000.

The CSTC Varsity boys plan a big night next Thursday at Herron Hall. They'll promote a double-header basketball card as well as a dance afterwards.

The entire evening will cost only 50 cents. All proceeds will go toward the Kadis Fund.

An intramural playoff clash will tip-off the baksetball show. Then will follow a game between the Varsity Club and next year's CSTC cage varsity.

A member of the Varsity Club quint will be Dick Witta, former Monessen High cager.

At a recent CSTC game, the Varsity Club took up a collection during half-time, netting $43. They added $57 of their own and promptly mailed a $100 check to the Kadis Fund.

The Varsity boys are hoping that next week's show will swell CSTC's contribution to the cause.

Geneva Whacks Westminster to Assure Bid

By UNITED PRESS

Geneva College is headed for its fifth straight trip to the NAIA basketball tournament at Kansas City.

The Covenanters practically assured themselves a tournament bid with an easy 97-85 victory over Westminster Wednesday night to up their season record to 15-6. Their ace scorer, Bill Blair, tallied 41 points on 13 field goals and 15 free throws.

Westminster, which had been a candidate for the tournament, probably lost its chance for a bid. The Titans' record now is 9-10. Three weeks ago, they were 13-point winners over Geneva.

Penn State, a possibility for the NCAA tournament, suffered a rude setback at Lewisburg, losing to Bucknell, 70-56. The first half was close, but the Lions fell apart in the second half. Just a week ago the Lions defeated Bucknell and went on to upset West Virginia.

Penn State's record is now 13-8, and Bucknell's 14-6.

Pitt, with two players combining for 51 points, dumped hometown rival Carnegie Tech, 96-84. The Panthers hit on 50 per cent of their shots. Bob Lazor was high with 26 points and Don Hennon had 25. Pitt is 13-8 and Tech 7-14.

In another Western Pennsylvania college game Wednesday night, Waynesburg got back in its own class and defeated California, 82-60. The Yellow Jackets notched their second victory against 14 defeats. Their other triumph also was over California. The Vulcans are 3-16.

Pastrano in No Hurry for Champ

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)— Willie Pastrano, a satin-smooth swiftie inside the ring, said today he intends to "make haste slowly" in a long-range bid to challenge heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

"I'm just gonna keep fightin' for groceries and let the other guys challenge Patterson for a while," said the fourth-ranked contender after Wednesday night's unanimous 10-round decision over Johnny Holman of Chicago. "I want to reach the top but I'm in no hurry to get there."

"That's right," chimed in trainer Angelo Dundee. "When we think it's time for Patterson, we'll challenge. . .but not before."

The 22-year-old Pastrano said "things went about as I expected" as he reduced Holman to a plodding, one-eyed fighter and extended his unbeaten string to 21 straight bouts. Willie puffed up Holman's left eye in the sixth round, closed it in the seventh and played cat-and-mouse with his heavier opponent the remainder of the way.

Felton Brown

Brown Passes Two Milestones In City League

Felton Brown, Sr., a regular member of the Big Five basketball cast in the City League, passed two milestones yesterday.

To begin with, Felton observed his 40th birthday, which makes him the oldest regular in the league.

Then, too, he completed his 21st City League season as Big Five bowed out of the playoffs. That makes Felton the "grand old man" of the circuit.

However Brown looks like anything but an "old man." He figures he still has lots of basketball left in his legs.

During his career in the City League, Brown has played on eight championship teams. He was a member of the famed Belle Vernon Wrens during the thirties.

Felton started his basketball career at Belle Vernon High School. He was also quite a football player and won added fame as a place-kicking specialist for the Monessen Ravens.

Biggest Thrill

Brown's biggest basketball thrill came in 1946 when he tossed in a fantastic 58 foot basket in the closing seconds at the Armory to give the Delaware Indians a win over the Ravens.

Felton figures he's played in more than 900 basketball games during his career. In no less than 15 years, his team has participated in the playoffs.

Brown has a son carrying on the family's basketball tradition. He is Felton, Jr., now at Westminister College after graduating from Monessen High.

Flara Reports Back to Pitt

PITTSBURGH (UP) — John Flara, promising halfback who quit the University of Pittsburgh because he objected to dishpan hands, was back at school today with the prospect of more dishes to wash.

Flara, a junior from Midland, Pa., dropped out of school in a huff Friday in protest to dish washing assignments given him in the work schedule for athletes. But the urging of friends and neighbors made him return.

"They challenged me to eat my pride and go back to washing dishes," he said. "So here I am."

"We're glad to have him back," said assistant Coach Vic Fusia. Floara had told Fusia by telephone Monday that he wouldn't return to Pitt unless he was relieved of the sink chores.

"Everybody back home told me I did the wrong thing by leaving," Flara said on his return late Wednesday. "I thought I could get a job from a man I know but he said he wouldn't hire me because I belonged in school."

Forte, Chamberlain Trail in Scoring

By JOHN GRIFFIN

Chet Forte fired and fell back, and now Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain opens his homestretch bid for the national basketball scoring championship — probably needing 36 points per game to do it.

Forte, the 5-9 Columbia star, failed in his effort to overtake front-running Grady Wallace of South Carolina Wednesday night when he tallied only 24 points in a 72-57 loss to Yale. The little Lion thus dropped from second to third in the hot five-man race.

Wallace now leads with 30.41 points per game, followed by Joe Gibbon of Mississippi at 2.39, Forte at 29.26, Elgin Baylor of Seattle at 29.13, and Chamberlain at 29.00.

Wilt Needs 56 Points

The seven-foot Chamberlain, going against Oklahoma A&M, will be the only contender in action tonight — opening a drive to regain the No. 1 spot that he held season-long until the last two weeks. It's almost impossible for him to catch Wallace tonight — he needs 56 points — and the Oklahoma Aggies, the nation's best defensive team, keep whole teams from scoring that many points.

Forte went into Wednesday night's game at New Haven, Conn., needing 46 points to catch Wallace and didn't come close, although his 24 took game scoring honors. Yale, leading all the way after zipping to a 16-6 lead after five minutes, took a tighter grip on first place in the Ivy League race as George Thompson led the way with 19 points.

Another piece was fitted into the tournament jigsaw Wednesday night with the announcement that Manhattan (13-5) has been picked for the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden. The Jaspers, winners of the Holiday Festival Tournament, were the sixth NIT team chosen, following Seattle, Memphis State, Cincinnati, Dayton, and St. Bonaventure.

Xavier Upsets Dayton

Dayton, however, suffered a 68-65 upset Wednesday night at the hands of Xavier of Ohio. Soph Hank Stein hit 29 points to pace Xavier in its revenge for an early-season setback, bagging 10 of them in the last six minutes.

In other leading games Wednesday night: Notre Dame rallied for a 99-88 win over Detroit, as Tom Hawkins of the Irish and Bill Ebben of Detroit tied at 29 points each; Wake Forest rolled up its top score of the season in beating Eastern Kentucky, 102-76;

Eighth-ranked Louisville rolled over Murray State, 97-82, for an 18-4 record; 17th-ranked Canisius nipped Syracuse, 67-65; Villanova nipped Washington & Lee in overtime, 70-69; St. Joseph's (Pa.) downed Pennsylvania, 79-71; and NIT-bound St. Bonaventure edged Le Moyne, 69-61.

Campanella Big 'If' as Brooks Begin Spring Training at Vero

By UNITED PRESS

Catcher Roy Campanella will be the center of attraction today when Manager Walt Alston formally opens the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., training camp.

"If Campanella's sound again, he'll solve a lot of our problems," conceded Alston, who lists the veteran catcher and Navy-returnee Johnny Podres as the Dodgers' two "big ifs" of 1957. Campanella, bothered by bad hands, hit only .219 last season but has been insisting all winter that he's sound again.

Only pitchers and catchers are actually due for today's workout but Alston was pleased to learn that veteran outfielder Carl Furillo and rookie first-baseman Jim Gentile also will be present. Gentile is the powerful farmhand who led the Dodgers in hitting on their post-world series tour of Japan.

At Tucson, Ariz., meanwhile, General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians revealed that pitcher Bob Lemon has agreed to terms. Lemon, a 20-game winner for the seventh time in his career last year, is believed to have settled for about $45,000. The Indians still have 12 players unsigned.

Tries Pitching

The Philadelphia Phillies announced that former infielder Gran Hamner, who is trying his arm at pitching this year, has signed. Hamner was forced to the toe plate because of an injury to his left shoulder which hobbled his play at both shortstop and second base. The Phillies are hopeful that a knuckler and good control can make him a surprise winner on the mound.

On other fronts:

Outfielder Hank Bauer and third baseman Andy Carey signed with the world champion New York Yankees, who now have 29 players under contract. Bauer hit only .241 but drove in 4 runs and walloped 26 homers last season. Carey, a .237-hitter in 1956, will have to fight to retain his job this year.

The New York Giants reported "all signed" when rookie pitcher Curtis Barclay, 15-11 at Minneapolis last season, came to terms. The Giants are the first of the three New York teams to sign up their full roster.

The Pittsburgh Pirates reported the signing of righthander Bob Garber, who compiled an 11-6 mark at Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League last season. Catcher Jack Shepard and outfielder Lee Walls remained as the only Bucs who have not yet inked contracts.

Dwyer Accepts Race Invitation

CHICAGO (UP)—Fred Dwyer, ex-Villanova distance runner, accepted an invitation today to compete in the Bankers Mile feature of the Chicago Daily News relays March 16.

Dwyer will run against Laszlo Tabori, Hungarian four-minute miler, and Ted Wheeler, University of Iowa law student and defending Bankers Mile champion.

Dukes Consider Feeler from NCAA

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Duquesne University's Committee on Athletics will meet soon to decide whether to accept a possible bid to the NCAA post-season basketball tournament.

The school announced Wednesday it had received a "feeler" from Lew Andreas, Syracuse University athletic director and a member of the NCAA tournament selection committee.

If invited, the Dukes would be an at-large entry.

Duquesne, with a 12-7 record this season, played in NCAA tournaments in 1940 and 1952, losing each time in the quarterfinals.

WPIAL to Rule On Redstone Cager

PITTSBURGH (UP)— A special WPIAL committee may rule today on the eligibility of Sam Canistra, star basketball player for Redstone Township High School in Fayette County.

The committee met Wednesday to hear arguments on the issue of Canistra's legal residence but reserved decision.

Redstone is tied with German Township for the WPIAL Section 11 lead. The two schools will meet for the title Friday night.

In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o er us.

Come smiling through our door

Leader Won't Let Dept. Be 'Whipping Boy'

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M. Leader said today he will not permit the state Public Instruction Department to become "a whipping boy" in a controversy over the department's hiring of consultants in a reorganization program.

The governor made the comment in releasing a department report on the duties and salaries of 29 consultants hired at a cost of $12 304 The report showed their per diem salaries ranged from $30 to $75.

"I am shocked that anyone could describe this as waste or extravagance," the governor said. "I refuse to permit the Department of Public Instruction to become a whipping boy or a victim of the extreme partisan politics that has contributed to its disintegration over the past years"

The governor said that Dr. Charles Boehm, department secretary, "in a burst of activity unknown for several generations, has brought in the best brains available to help him bring our educational program into its proper role."

'Best Cherry Pie Baker' Sought

CHICAGO (UP)—Fifty-one young women today vied for the title of "best cherry pie baker" in the nation.

The cooks, representing all 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii and Canada, matched skills in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel

The winner of the "silver jubilee" national cherry pie baking contest will present her pie to President Eisenhower in Washington. She'll also receive a $500 college scholarship.

Order Dock Workers Back on Job Today

CHICAGO (UP)— A family of 15, forced to separate after they were evicted, appealed today for someone to sell or rent them a home so they can be reunited.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Emlund said a week-long search of the city has failed to turn up anyone willing to rent to such a large family

It isn't that they don't have the money, the Emlunds said Instead, there just appears to be no place in Chicago for them.

"People just don't seem to like kids," said Mrs. Emlund, who is trying to care for 10 of her children at a Salvation Army shelter

Her husband is staying with friends, along with two of his sons Another son, Louis, 22, is in the Army, but is due to return home soon

"We've never been separated like this before," Mrs Emlund said "All I want is to keep my family together

"It seems like refugees from foreign countries come here and find jobs and houses ready and waiting, but people who have lived here all their life can't"

The mother said she and her family lived and grew for 15 years in a five-room duplex apartment on Chicago's West Side They were cramped, but there was a yard outside for the children to run and play.

Emlund a union painter, brings home $125 a week and it was enough to pay the bills, although his hunt for a new home now has cost him a week's wages.

The apartment building was condemned recently and new owners took it over with plans for a complete remodeling. The Emlunds were ordered to move.

After fighting the case in the courts, the family lost and got a five-day notice to move.

In the meantime, Mrs. Emlund and her husband were called to Memphis, Tenn., by the death of her mother, Mrs. Minnie Dillard

When they returned last Monday, their belongings had been moved into the street and their home was locked.

State House Looks at Welfare Consultants

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee today released a list of consultants and organizations retained by the Welfare Department on a contract basis and questioned the propriety of one group being paid by the department.

Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) said the list was needed to determine how state appropriations have been spent and in "evaluating requests" in the new budget.

"These agreements do not show how much each person or organization actually received or for what period of time they were employed," he said. "The agreements in each case provide for a maximum amount of authorization rather than actual expenditures," Wood said.

Wood said the joint House-Senate Appropriations committees reviewing Gov. George M. Leader's budget was "particularly interested in the agreement between the secretary of welfare and the Pennsylvania Citizens Association, which provides for payments of $20,000 to that organization from the department's appropriation."

"It seems to me that it is a very unusual procedure. . .for the state to be paying an organization which has persistently lobbied before the Legislature for larger and larger appropriations for the Welfare Department," he said. The association was listed as receiving the money for working with communities to analyze needs for mental health from Sept. 1, 1956 tho May 31, 1957.

The Appropriations Committee also has the Public Instruction Department under study for hiring consultants on a per diem basis for part-time services. The department said it hired the consultants for a limited period to help in its reorganization program.

The Welfare Department has set its budget needs at over $221,000,000 for 1957-59, a $28,000,000 increase. Public Instruction asked for $740,500,000, nearly $100,000,000 over its 1955-57 budget.

The legislative group plans to meet Monday with the Milk Commission, Labor and Industry, Public Instruction and the Parole Board. The legislators will query the Public Assistance Department on a $7,767,798 deficiency appropriation requested and $1,600,000 sought by the Labor and Industry Department.

How Heart Reports On Its Own Health

By K. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

With some 10,000,000 Americans suffering from some form of heart and circulatory disease, the electrocardiograph has become an essential piece of medical equipment.

Yet, many persons mistakenly fear this device which records the electro-reactions of the heart, and spurn the valuable information an electrocardiograph can give them.

Let me emphasize that an electrocardiograph does not send any waves of electricity through your body. It doesn't have to, the electricity is already there.

Your heart beats on the average of 60 to 80 times a minute. This beating creates electrical current, which travels through your body.

Simply by placing wires on the surface of your body we can pick up and record that current. From this record we can determine whether your heart is functioning normally.

Whenever a heart attack occurs, an area of the heart muscle is injured and does not function properly. This malfunction changes the direction of the flow of the electrical current in the body.

Tracings on a graph record the current. In the center is a line called the isoelectric potential.

Deflections in the heart's potential from some heart injury are shown by a deflection in a stylus tracing the actions of the organ.

These actions are recorded in a curved line — a complex curved line, I might add. The stylus traces a small loop when the upper chambers of the heart contracts. Contraction of the large muscle chambers causes the styles to form of the curve traced for the big chamber of the heart.

The electrocardiograph, of course, is only one of the tools a physician uses to determine the status of your heart.

Sometimes an electrocariograph alone won't tell us enough; but, in the majority of cases, it's a big help.

Swansong for Actor After TV Program Tonight

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — When Paul Henreid steps before the cameras for a TV drama tonight, he will be giving his swansong to acting.

Henreid revealed during rehearsals of CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" that he's retiring as an actor and will work only as a director because "it's the only sensible thing to do for a grown-up man."

Many an actor hopes he can eventually give up grease paint for the more creative and secure job of making movies—yet few actors have the talent for direction. But Henreid has been signed by Producer-Director Alfred Hitchcock to direct the "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" series on CBS-TV.

"I've been making this transition for several years, and have directed three movies while also acting," Henreid said. "I liked directing and discovered it was more creative.

"I decided directing was what I wanted to do — no more acting. I continued acting for financial reasons but now that I have a directing contract I will remain a director.

"You see," he explained frankly, "there is no such thing as a foreign star in Hollywood any more. There are no more people here such as Charles Boyer, Hedy Lamarr and myself. Now foreign actors come over for just one picture.

A plan for all District 11 lodges to arrange for a family picnic together is also underway and a meeting with Rainbow Garden officials will be held to further discuss this activity.

'Phantom Sniper' Appears Again

PORT HURON, Mich. (UP)—A new "phantom sniper" has appeared on the Michigan scene.

Police said they thought they had the problem solved with the arrest of Gary Taylor, 20, a few weeks ago. Taylor, who fired his .22 caliber rifle only at girls and women, was arrested early this month after a two-month reign of terror in Detroit's suburbs and now is awaiting a sanity hearing.

But Tuesday night another sniper appeared in Port Huron and fired at least six rifle shots at cars and buildings in the city.

Leader Praises Opposition to Israel Sanctions

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M Leader has sent a telegram to U.S. Senate Democratic Floor Leader Lyndon B. Johnson congratulating him on the party's opposition to sanctions against Israel.

The telegram, released shortly after Leader met with Grand Rabbi Moses Lipschitz, Philadelphia; Rabbi Chaim U. Lipschitz, director of the Rabbinical Alliance of America, Brooklyn, and Abraham M. Kaufman, Philadelphia, said the United Nations "cannot in fairness penalize Israel for action taken in self defense."

"This crisis in the Middle East was brought about by Egyptian border raids and blockade of Israeli shipping, a course of action continued by Egypt despite repeated UN protests," Leader said. "Until the conditions which provoked Israel's action have been corrected, no solution to the problem will be found."

Asks Study of Commutation in Erie Scandals

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Erie County District Attorney Herbert Johnson will ask a joint legislative committee next week to study the commutation of sentences in the 1954 Erie bribe scandal.

Johnson will go to Harrisburg Monday to confer with David Kohn, counsel for the joint House-Senate committee investigating policies of the state Pardons Board.

The district attorney pointed out Wednesday that his office and the sentencing judges had opposed the commutations handed down by Gov. George M. Leader on the recommendation of the Pardons Board.

Seventeen persons, including deposed Erie Mayor Thomas Flatley, applied for commutations and only one was refused, Johnson said.

Flatley and 35 other persons were named in a reputed $20 million a year gambling operation which received city hall protection.

Deficiency Money Bills Proposed

HARRISBURG (UP)—Proposed deficiency appropriations totaling more than $9,000,000 for two state agencies were in the General Assembly today.

Two bills sponsored by House Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) would appropriate $7,777,798 to the Public Assistance Department and $1,600,000 to the Labor and Industry Department. The two deficiencies are for the two-year fiscal period ending May 31.

23 Indicted in Turnpike Probe Appeal to Court

HARRISBURG (UP) — Twenty-three persons indicted by a Dauphin County grand jury in an investigation of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission have appealed to the state Superior Court to quash the indictments.

Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside late Wednesday halted further legal proceedings against the 23 and ordered the lower court to show cause why bail should be entered.

Twenty-two of the defendants, including former Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, and Commissioner James F. Torrance. Export, were indicted on charges of criminal conspiracy in an alleged swindle of turnpike funds.

Commission Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh, who along with Torrance was suspended by Gov. George M. Leader pending outcome of the indictments, was charged with misconduct in office. The grand jury said McSorley supplied Evans with a chauffeur after Evans left the agency.

New Air Defense Weapons Ready

WASHINGTON (UP)— Kill-at-a-distance atomic air defense weapons are now protecting American cities and industries from enemy H-bombers.

They are being stored at air defense command bases throughout continental United States. Their vast power, according to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, provides a new deterrent against aggression by air.

First of the new defense weapons, announced by Wilson Wednesday, is an air-to-air rocket launched by high-flying interceptor aircraft. It "is now available."

Also to be "deployed" within the United States are nuclear warheads for such surface-to-air guided missiles as the Army's Nike-Hercules, a far-ranging imprvement on the non-atomic Nike-Ajax now defending major target areas, and the Navy's shipboard Talos.

While the new atom-tipped rockets are ready now, defense officials said it may be nearly a year before the surface-to-air guided missiles are equipped with nuclear warheads.

Hinting at new atomic weapons still to come, the Defense Department said "the present deployment of these weapons is a first step in improving our air defense capabilities."

It was the first official admission that so-called tactical atomic weapons, as distinguished from the vastly more violent H-bomb, have actually been assigned to the forces for which they were designed.

It has long been known that the U.S. Strategic Air Command has custody of the big bombs with which it would retaliate against enemy cities for any attack on this cuntry.

And authoritative sources also have said atomic artillery shells, missile warheads, and bombs have been stockpiled abroad for this country's NATO land, sea, and air forces that would use them to repel aggression against Europe from the East.

All of the armed services want all the tactical atomic weapons they can get—considerably more, actually, than are now being produced — and the military has not yet announced its 1957 needs to the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee.

But Wilson's announcement was an explicit statement, the first that custody of nuclear warheads had been transferred from the Atomic Energy Commission to the military for air defense of this continent.

He made it clear that if any enemy H-bomb bearing planes try to break through U.S. defenses, they will run into a fury of anti-aircraft fire unlike anything in the past history of warfare.

Wilson Honored By Photographers

WASHINGTON (UP)—White House photographers have organized the "Sons of Dunghill" in honor of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

They presented Wilson Wednesday with a lapel button bearing the initials "S.O.D." as he arrived at the White House.

The button commemorates the remark Wilson recently made outside the White House after meeting with President Eisenhower.

When he was asked about the meeting, he replied "this isn't my dunghill."

Wilson cheerfully accepted the "S.O.D." button and kept it in his lapel as he posed later for pictures.

Navy Completes Operations in The Antarctica

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (UP)— Operation Deepfreeze II, the U.S. Navy phase of the world's greatest polar expedition, came to an almost unbelievably successful conclusion today.

With six international geophysical year science bases and one naval air base established, the Navy-controlled operation quits Antarctica today with its job "100 per cent completed."

Five bases at the South Pole, Marie Byrd Land, Filchner Ice Shelf and Cape Hallet have been built during the past four months and are in full operation.

Scientists assisted by Navy men are preparing for a year of scientific observations beginning July 1 and the long darkness of the Antarctic's winter night.

The huge U.S. venture involved more than 3,500 Navy, Air Force, Marine and Coast Guard personnel along with a fleet of 12 ships and 40 airplanes.

Women influence the purchase of 62 per cent of all hardware bought in the United States.

Rate Boosts Needed To Increase Service, Bell Official Says

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21. (UP) — W. D. Gillen, president of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, said today further rate increases are essential if the company is to continue the quantity and quality of service the people of Pennsylvania "want and are entitled to have."

Gillen made his statement in Bell's annual report which noted company expenditures of almost $116.7 million during 1956, and which said the requirements for 1957 would be even higher.

It was predicted that post-war construction by Bell would pass the $1-billion mark next year.

"This is why the cost of our service has gone up less than one third as much as has the Consumer's Price Index in Pennsylvania," Gillen reported. "We are increasing our revenues through sound merchandising and effective selling. But neither economies nor sales effort can completely solve the problem confronting us."

Further Increases

"It is essential that we have further increases in rates if we are to continue to give the people of Pennsylvania the quantity and quality of service they want and are entitled to have — and for which they are willing to pay a reasonable price."

The report said that periodic "repricing of our services" was needed to secure additional revenues to keep earnings at satisfactory levels.

"Our ability to provide the people of Pennsylvania with the telephone service they need, to furnish secure employment and good wages to our people, and to pay a reasonable return on the money invested in the business depends on the adequacy of our earnings," the report said.

Bell asked for a $36-million rate increase last year, which it said would allow it $16-million after taxes. The Public Utility Commission permitted $13.4 million in increases which Bell said left less than $6-million.

Gillen said Bell provides "substantial support" to the economy of Pennsylvania with a $165.9 million payroll and the $41-million purchases from Pennsylvania concerns.

The report said almost $69.5-million of its 1956 construction program was spent for wire, cable, telephones and related items.

Gillen reported the company completed construction of 18 new buildings and 21 additions. Twelve buildings and 17 additions were under construction at the end of the year.

A gain of 217,000 telephones during 1956 was reported. The company's phone total was listed at 3,628,000.

Gillen said the growth was greater substantially than in any of the past seven years, but that it was not yet sufficient to meet all requests for service promptly.

He said there was no indication the demand would lessen in 1957.

The report said 13 manual offices were changed to dial operation during the year and six new dial offices were put in service.

Plumber Finds Self in Hot Water Today

DALLAS, N.C. (UP)—Plumber Nelson Eidson found himself in hot water today because his elaborate home plumbing system did not hold water.

In fact, officers found that it held nothing but pure whisky.

For some time officers had suspected that, in addition to his obvious flair for pipe-fitting, Eidson had other talents. Last year he was arrested for hiding whisky in his fireplace.

When officers raided his home this week, one of them accidentally turned on the kitchen tap. Whisky came out and kept coming. The officers followed copper tubing from the kitchen sink to a 42-gallon tank in the back yard.

Eidson was released under $500 bond on charges of violating the liquor laws.

Coal Pipeline Is Ready

CADIZ, O., (UP) — The movement of coal from mine to factory through a pipeline begins here today.

Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. announced today that it will pump 400 tons of finely ground coal through a 108-mile pipe to Cleveland.

The shipment is the beginning of a program which industry sources feel may save millions of dollars in shipping charges.

The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. will receive the coal at its Eastgate plant near Cleveland. CEI hopes the pipeline shipments will be about $1 less per ton than railroad shipping charges.

The Cleveland firm has contracted to buy 1,250,000 tons of coal a year from Pittsburgh Consolidation for 15 years.

The coal will be crushed into particles about one-twentieth of an inch or smaller and mixed with water before it begins its journey through the pipes from the mine at nearby Georgetown. The crushing plant cost $2,750,000.

Pumping stations at Georgetown and two more along the way will move the coal to Cleveland. The 108-mile journey requires 36 hours.

British Band's U. S. Tour Rated Success

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK — (UP) — Britain's top band leader, Ted Heath, now is in the midst of what he calls "an I-told-you-so-tour" of the United States and Canada with his orchestra.

Heath, a gray-haired, quiet-speaking man, said the "I-told-you-so" is directed at British trade papers.

"They have always maintained that no English band could compare with an American band," said Heath. "We've been number one in England for years but these critics always frightened me off when it came to an American tour. I began to feel we weren't as good as your bands."

In 1955, however, Ted visited the United States en route home from an Australian tour.

"I assessed the value objectively and found that while you had some very good bands, we still might fit in somewhere along the line. When I made that statement at home, I was roasted. They said I was getting big-headed and all that. "Then, when we got the chance to play here for four weeks last spring, we jumped at it.

"It turned out we were right, and so here we are back again, by popular demand, I'm proud to say."

Heath's 17-member all-British band started a 21-day, 21-city tour Feb. 8 in Washington, D. C. They close in Toronto on Feb. 28.

Heath believes the warmth of audience response here is perhaps due to the fact that American audiences don't expect too much from British jazz musicians.

"When they hear that we can play well, they're so surprised that they applaud more than they might otherwise," he said.

Dancing crowds in England, Heath reported, are very much in evidence. If there has been a decline in dancing in this country, he said, then it may be because:

"Band leaders, generally, haven't looked after their own business. They haven't paid enough attention to presentation. They began playing jazz concerts in dance halls. My band plays differently at a dance than it does, say, in Carnegie Hall. There's no use fighting the customers. At a dance, give them dance music. Otherwise, they stay away."

Because Britain is small, Heath finds that he must always come up with something new in order to draw good crowds over and over in the same dance halls.

"We're always adding new comedy, new lighting effects, new being expert musicians, must also Heath said.

The men in his band, besides kbeing expert musicians, must also be well-groomed.

"I want them to set a good example," Heath said. "Sometimes a player will tell me he's an artist and has a right to have long hair. I tell him, 'Getting a haircut and a shoeshine will never spoil your tone.'
